Mayor Directs Studies Toward 5% Budget Cut

. . . 'Doesn't Necessarily Mean Slice'

By Virgil Falloon

Mayor Pat Boyles directed all city departments with tax-supported budgets to report on a priority basis those items which could be reduced to effect a 5% cut in their 1959-60 requests.

Boyles

The City Council backed Boyles' move which came at the conclusion of Thursday night's budget session.

"This does not necessarily mean the Council will cut any budget by that much," Boyles said, "but we should find out which items could be reduced for a 5% cut in requests."

After 3 lengthy budget sessions on the city's requested 1959-60 tax supported budget of $4,475,905, the Council itself has only trimmed a net of about $12,000 from total requests.

In an apparent move to have department heads wring the fat, if any, out of their budgets so the Council can see it, Boyles said the departmental budgets generally range from 5 to 10% more than for last year.

31.5 Mills More

No salary increases are included in the preliminary budget, which would require a 15.1 mill levy or 1.5 mills more than the 1958 levey of 16.6 mills.

However, police and fire pay boosts totaling $285,000 and a $25-a-month boosts for 340 other city employes amounting to $115,000 have been requested of the Council. These pay proposals would amount to about a 2.5 mill increase in the tentative levy requirement of 15.1 mills.

Finance Director James Mallon was directed to have the departmental reports of the directors or division heads made available to the Council by Monday morning, when budget sessions will be resumed.

A 5% cut in the general budget of $3,427,968 would amount to $171,398. The amount of increase in this year's requests over last year's appropriations totals $189,998.

Remainder

Remainder of the tax-supported budgets includes $100,000 requested for storm sewers and $718,417 for unlimited tax funds covering such items as debt and interest, social security, and police and fire pension—largely pre-determined by commitments.

In action on the City Property budget of $83,500, which was the same as requested last year, the Council added $10,000 to the budget to make repairs to the cornice on City Hall.

During recent years, the loosening cornice and several incidents of falling stones have presented a potential hazard.

All Council members attended the budget session Thursday night except C. W. D. Kinsey, who is vacationing, and Al DuTeau.

Multi-$$$ Swindler Held In Rio

New York (AP)—Lowell M. Birrell, alleged multi-million dollar stock swindler and manipulator, has been found in Rio de Janeiro after a worldwide search, the Manhattan district attorney said.

Birrell, 52, an attorney, and president of numerous companies, was charged two weeks ago in a 69-count indictment of engineering a 1 million dollar fraud on stockholders in two companies.

Dist. Atty. Frank S. Hogan said Birrell didn't get all of the 14 million "but he tried." He said Birrell enriched himself by about 3 million by stock manipulations.

Birrell disappeared in November, 1957, after a warrant was issued for his arrest. He had been reported seen in half the capitals of the world.

Birrell is a former president of the Swan-Finch Oil Corp., a former board chairman of Doeskin Products, Inc.

In a complicated scheme that authorities are still unraveling, Birrell allegedly siphoned off 700,000 shares of Doeskin that were supposed to go to the Swan-Finch and sold it through fronts here and in Canada at less than the market price.

Getting Birrell out of Rio may pose a problem. Brazil has no extradition treaty with the United States, and is a favorite refuge for wanted Americans.

SQUABBLE PRODUCES NEW TOWN

. . . It's Inglewood

Fremont, Neb. (AP)—Nebraska has a new incorporated village.

It's name is Inglewood.

Population is 212—123 adults and 89 children.

Inglewood lies just across the Highway 77 viaduct south of Fremont.

Under a state law which gives cities zoning authority within a mile of city limits, Fremont planned to extend electrical, plumbing and building codes to Inglewood.

Residents of the unincorporated community objected. The Fremont City Council went ahead with the extension of the building codes, but began drafting a second ordinance which would have exempted Inglewood.

TEMPS IN 90S TO CONTINUE

It was an ideal day for sun-bathing Thursday as Nebraskans basked in 90-degree temperatures under clear skies.

Lincoln and Imperial shared the state high temperature of 93 as most of the state recorded temperatures in the high 80s or low 90s. The state low of 55 was reported by Chadron and Sidney.

The weatherman has forecast more of the same for Friday, with only a few scattered showers in the Panhandle slated to mar the picnic weather.

Nebraska Farmers Approve By 73.8%

. . . LANCASTER VOTES 82.8%

By Bill Anderson

Nebraska wheat farmers followed the national trend in Thursday's wheat referendum, voting 73.8% in favor of continuing marketing quotas on next year's wheat crop.

Out of 13,764 voting, 10,158 cast approving ballots and 3,606 voted against keeping the controls. Last year, 14,606 out of the eligible 75,000 farmers in the state voted.

A two-thirds majority was needed on the national level to keep quotas in effect on the 1960 crop. Under a 1938 federal wheat law, a referendum is required whenever the national wheat supply is 20% above normal. Present wheat supplies are 100% over what is needed for consumption.

In heavily populated Lancaster County, 406 farmers voted, approving quotas by 82.8%.

West Against

Most of the western counties voted against the controls. Counties failing to gain a two-thirds majority were Kimball, Butler, Pawnee, Hitchcock, Merrick, Otoe, Sarpy, Hayes, Keith, Deuel, Garden, Perkins, Lincoln, Cheyenne and Banner.

This is the 5th time in 7 years that Nebraska farmers have given approval to strict controls. Wheat farmers who will harvest more than 15 acres in 1960 were eligible to vote.

Nebraska's largest wheat producing county—Cheyenne—again nixed the quotas, voting only 45.1% in favor. Some 275 cast ballots.

Another big producer, Kimball County scored the lowest "yes" vote recorded, with only 19% out of 192 voting in favor. Last year, the county voted 38% in favor.

Saline Biggest

The biggest turnout was in Saline County where 575 voted 81.4% in favor, compared to 632 in favor last year when quotas were approved by a 75.8% margin.

The Nebraska Wheat Growers Assn. had recommended a yes vote from its members. State Sen. George Gerdes of Alliance had earlier said farmers had "little choice" but to approve the quotas.

Two years ago, the vote was 73.7% in favor. In 1956 it was 78.2% in 1955, 63.4%; in 1954, 56.9%, and in 1953, 83.1%.

Balloting was light during the day, but picked up right before the polls closed at 8 p.m. In the Cheyenne County area, the harvest is still in full swing.

Clark In Charge

Charles Clark, program specialist for the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office in Lincoln, was in charge of the state tabulations.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture has announced an advance minimum national support price on the 1960 crop of $1.77 per bushel. This compares with the 1959 support rate of $1.81.

With marketing quotas in effect, farmers will be guaranteed at least $1.77 if they stay within their acreage allotments.

Next year's Nebraska acreage allotment has been set by USDA at 3,181,945 acres, compared with the 1959 allotment of 3,204,666.

The referendum was held at a time when no new federal wheat legislation has arisen to deal with the pressing surplus problem. President Eisenhower recently vetoed a Democratic-backed bill that would guarantee farmers 90% of parity if they would be willing to cut production by 25%.

Nixon Talks With Khrushchev Today

. . . Gets Cool Reception In Moscow

Moscow (Friday) (AP) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon meets Nikita S. Khrushchev at the kremlin today.

The session will give the Soviet premier a chance to repeat face to face, if he desires, some of the anti-American blast he let loose as Nixon was arriving in Moscow.

The vice president is scheduled to make his first call on Khrushchev and have luncheon with him in the afternoon. Later Nixon will open the U.S. exhibit, his official purpose for his trip, and there is some expectation Khrushchev will join in this ceremony.

There was a deep contrast in the two men's remarks as Nixon flew into Moscow.

"We must learn to live together or we will die together," said the vice president in a 12-minute airport address.

At almost the same time, Khrushchev, 20 miles away, announced a representative of the "panic-stricken American imperialists" had arrived. He suggested Nixon come see a meeting of "enslaved peoples" he said the United States was talking of liberating.

What aroused Kremlin wrath was President Eisenhower's proclamation of this week as Captive Nations Week in the United States. In line with a congressional resolution, Americans were urged to conduct ceremonies in memory of nations "made captive by the imperialistic and aggressive policies of Soviet communism."

RECORD FLIGHT TO MOSCOW

Moscow (AP)—An American jet with 73 passengers set an 8 hour 53 minute record for a nonstop New York-Moscow flight.

That shaved 55 minutes off the mark set 10 days ago by the Russian TU114 turbo jet which brought Frol R. Kozlov home.

The record-setting plane is a new version of the Boeing 707, called 707-321.

Aboard were reporters and government aides coming to Moscow for Vice President Richard M. Nixon's visit.

C&NW To Protest Valuation Increase

By Betty Person

R. D. Neely of Omaha, counsel for the Chicago and Northwestern Railroad, confirmed Thursday that the railroad will file a complaint with the State Board of Equalization Friday in protest of the line's 1959 assessed valuation set by the Board.

The complaint was mailed to Lincoln Thursday afternoon, Neely said, and a hearing on the matter will be held next Tuesday at 9:30 a.m. before the Board in the Governor's Hearing Room at the Capitol.

The Board voted 2-1 last week to continue using the same formula used in recent years for railroad assessments which resulted in a $2.5 million increase over the 1958 assessed valuation of $132.9 million for all railroads.

State Tax Commissioner Fred Herrington had suggested that a new formula be used eliminating factors initiated after repeal of the 50% basic value law which would have resulted in a $26 million reduction for the 11 railroads doing business in Nebraska.

'Excessive'

Railroad representatives contended quite vigorously at a hearing before the Board this spring that their property assessment was excessive in comparison with that of other property in the state.

Attorneys for two other major railroads, George Holdrege of Union Pacific and Jay Weingarten of Burlington, told The Star that officers of their railroads still are considering filing protests with the Board.

Gov. Ralph Brooks and Treasurer Richard Larsen, Democratic members of the Board, voted for the increase at the July 15 meeting. Republican State Auditor Ray C. Johnson voted against it and Herrington, also a Republican, disqualified himself from voting after issuing a statement criticizing the "political" overtones of the 1959 railroad assessment.

The fifth member of the Board, Republican Secretary of State Frank Marsh, was not present.

Quotas Given Growers' OK

66% Requirement Topped

Washington (AP)—Farmers voted in a referendum Thursday to continue federal marketing controls on next year's wheat crop.

Unofficial and nearly complete returns from 35 of the 39 states in which balloting was conducted gave 120,293 for the program and 31,963 against.

This was a favorable vote of about 79.1%—or in excess of the necessary two-thirds.

Little Change

Agriculture Department officials said they expected complete returns to show little change in the favorable percentage.

Last year the vote was 84.1% in favor.

Little Other Choice

Agriculture department officials had said they expected the quotas to get more than the two-thirds majority needed to make them effective because, they said, farmers had tt o elth re il farmers had little other choice.

Growers were asked, in effect, to say whether they wanted the old program, which has been under sharp criticism in and out of Congress, or one that provided virtually no government aid in stabilizing prices and supplies.

$1.81 This Year

The old program embraces planting allotments at the legal minimum of 55 million acres, marketing quotas based on these allotments and price supports at the minimum level of 75% of parity, or not less than $1.77 a bushel. This year's support is $1.81.

The Eisenhower administration has said this program has failed completely because there has been an accumulation of a record surplus in which the government has $3,100,000,000 invested and which is costing more than a million dollars a day to store.

Secretary of Agriculture Benson told a news conference Thursday it was regrettable that Congress did not pass legislation correcting weak points of the old program. He favors lower supports and fewer controls on production.

Congress passed a bill that moved in the opposite direction. It was vetoed by President Eisenhower.

Rejection of quotas would eliminate marketing controls and leave growers free to plant all the wheat they desire. Price supports would drop to 50% of parity or about $1.18 a bushel, but this aid would be available only to growers complying with their share of the 55-million-acre allotment.

20 Top Demos Confer

. . . More To Come

A meeting of 20 top Nebraska Democrats hosted by Gov. Ralph Brooks was described Thursday by Gubernatorial Assistant Robert Conrad as a "friendly gathering for a bull session."

Brooks

The dinner meeting was attended by 8 state legislators who are Democratic Party and Democratic heads of state departments serving under the governor.

"Brooks outlined a couple or 3 ideas he had on administrative projects to get their ideas," Conrad said.

He acknowledged that "politics" was discussed with an eye toward 1960 "but not from the standpoint of individual candidacies."

More To Come

Conrad said there "probably will be several such meetings and this was the first." Such conferences "might be held monthly," he added.

Legislators attending the meeting were Sens. Joe Vosoba of Wilber, Norman Otto of Kearney, Hans Jensen of Aurora, J. W. Burbach of Crofton, Oliver Olinger of Tekamah, H. K. Diers of Gresham, John Munnelly of Omaha and William Skarda of Omaha.

Statehouse officials included State Purchasing Agent A. Clifford Anderson, Banking Director Edwin Van Horne, Agricultural Director Pearle Finigan, Labor Commissioner D. D. Bastemeyer, State Treasurer Richard Larsen, Building Superintendent James Delehant, Brooks and Conrad.

State Democratic Party Chairman Russell Hanson of Newcastle also attended the meeting.

Geneva Talks Make No Progress

GROMYKO REFUSES TO BUDGE

Geneva (AP) — The Western powers told Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko Thursday they will never accept Russia's terms for a Berlin truce. They pressed him once again to get down to fruitful talk.

By this the West means negotiation on a stopgap Berlin settlement. Gromyko has been insisting a Berlin standstill must be tied in with reunification talks between the two Germanys.

Gromyko said he was perfectly willing to talk about a Berlin truce but made no move to drop the tie-in with Pan-German conversations.

Britain's Selwyn Lloyd took the lead in seeking to bring the foreign ministers conference back to a discussion of a stopgap Berlin settlement.

At Some Level

"I say," he told Gromyko, "that there is an interim agreement for Berlin sketched out for us. And I believe that it should be possible here or at some other meeting, perhaps at another level, to get final acceptance of this interim agreement."

Explaining that remark, a British spokesman said Lloyd meant that "final acceptance could come here or at the summit."

The British thus appeared to be opening the door to a meeting of heads of government. They were inviting Gromyko to enter. And they held out the bait that the West would agree on some kind of Pan-German talks. Lloyd put it this way:

"Our formula permits of any combination or permutation of the delegations here in this room today (including both Germanys) tc meet from time to time for purposes which could be defined precisely or left general."

Quickly Scotched

But if Gromyko had any ideas the British would buy his idea that German problems must be settled by a Pan-German committee, Lloyd scotched them.

"We cannot accept that," Lloyd said.

Clarifying Lloyd's statement, British officials said later he did not mean to say he thought there had been enough progress yet on a Berlin truce to justify a summit meeting. These officials added Lloyd felt the ministers still could negotiate a Berlin standstill here.

American authorities said President Eisenhower will not go to a summit meeting unless a Berlin truce has been agreed upon at this conference.

Anti 'Equal Time' Amendment Gets NBA Support

The Nebraska Broadcasters Assn. Thursday telegraphed the Nebraska delegation in Washington urging support of an amendment which would remove the so-called "equal time" order on radio and TV newscasts.

A local representative said House and Senate committees have approved an amendment to section 315 of the Federal Communications Act which requires that all candidates for political office be given equal time on news programs.

He said Sen. Carl Curtis (R-Neb) has assured the organization of his interest in the matter.

The broadcasting industry has urged removal of the "equal time" requirement for some time. The NBA represents 40 radio and TV stations in the state.

Curtis Barks Back At Steen's Reservoir Land Bill Gripes

Lincoln Star Special

Washington — Sen. Carl Curtis (R-Neb) gave a vigorous reply Thursday to Nebraska State Game Commission Director Mel Steen's criticism of Curtis' bill dealing with Harlan County reservoir area land.

Curtis said, "His brick-throwing and his misstatements of fact are not in the public interest." He pointed out that while "Mr. Steen's co-operation and help would be worthwhile" . . . he "has not seen fit to communicate with me about it."

History Used

Presenting a history of the national land acquisition policies for projects similar to the Harlan County reservoir, Curtis explained that the Department of Interior and U.S. Corps of Engineers would acquire by purchase or condemnation the land specifically required for the project, plus additional land which might be subject to flooding.

For land subject only to infrequent flooding, the government would take an easement on such property, leaving the title to the owner, he said.

"It should be pointed out here," he said, "that there is no way under the law whereby the Interior or Department of Army or any other government agency could sell land back to the former owner once the sale had been consummated. It required a special act of Congress to reconvey such property."

☆ ☆ ☆

State Game Commissioner Mel Steen has given a sharp reply to a new statement issued by Sen. Carl T. Curtis.

Defending his stand in favor of public retention of lands surrounding Harlan County Reservoir, Steen said that the only thing Curtis wants to recognize is flood control — not any of the public interest which the rest of the American people have in recreation.

The 1953 land acquisition policy which Curtis referred to, Steen said, has been denounced by "every recreation official I know of." It fails to recognize the public rights, he said.

St. Elizabeth Nursing School Readies $350,000 Expansion

Plans are being completed for a $350,000 addition to the School of Nursing at St. Elizabeth Hospital.

Sister Gerharda, director of the School of Nursing, said that plans should be completed in August, with construction to begin in September or early October.

The addition, which will provide living quarters for 36 student nurses, is being financed by a $125,000 Hill-Burton federal grant and funds from the Sisters of St. Francis, who administer the hospital.

4 Stories

The plans call for an extension of the present east wing of the hospital, adding 42 by 75 feet. The new wing will be a 4-story structure of the same height, design and construction as the existing structure.

On the ground floor of the addition will be a nursing arts laboratory, science laboratory, central linen room and general store room. The second floor will house a large library with work room, an instructor's office and faculty conference room.

Private Rooms

The second, third and fourth floors will have private rooms for student nurses, Sister Gerharda said. Each room will feature modern facilities. A sundeck and solarium will occupy the roof of the addition.

The School of Nursing now has 98 students, Sister Gerharda said. An increased enrollment is expected over the next few years, she added.

This increase in enrollment and the advancement in the curriculum have created a need for additional facilities, Sister Gerharda said.

$31,700 Suit Results From Gateway Site Union Hassle

The Ray Martin Co. of Lincoln has filed a Federal Court suit for at least $31,700 damages allegedly resulting from a jurisdictional dispute between two unions over construction work at the Gateway Shopping Center at 62nd and O.

The Martin Company, which holds the plumbing and heating contract for the Center, named Local 88, United Assn. of Journeyman Plumbers and Steamfitters, and its business representative, Marvin C. Finch, as defendants.

Work Slowdown

The suit alleges the threatened strike and work slowdown in the jurisdictional dispute between the defendant union and the International Hodcarriers, Building and Common Laborers Union, is in violation of the Taft-Hartley Act.

The company alleges it is not a party to the dispute and the National Labor Relations Board has not certified a bargaining representative in the dispute.

Before June 9, the petition alleges, the Hodcarriers Union was laying sewer pipe under supervision of a member of the plumbers union.

Can't Return

But since that date, the plumbers union and Finch will not allow members to return to the work site unless Martin assigns additional work to the plumbers union, the petition alleges.

The plumbers claim they should be doing some of the work in installing sanitary and storm sewer pipe being done by the Hodcarriers Union, the petition states.

Carl W. Olson, president of the Olson Construction Co., which holds the general construction contract, said the dispute is not expected to have any serious effect on construction work.

He said the two unions involved are obligated to continue work in a jurisdictional strike.

Cuba Is Tied Up By A One-Hour Strike

. . . Castro To Make Premier Decision Sunday

Havana (AP) — Fidel Castro's supporters tied up Cuba Thursday with a one hour general strike called to support demands that he come back and be premier. The bearded revolutionary said he'd withhold his decision until Sunday, when an even bigger show of strength is planned.

Thursday's work stoppage, called by the million-member Cuban Workers Confederation (CTC), was part of a great buildup for Castro. He abandoned the top cabinet post a week ago to attack and expel Manuel Urrutia as president.

Climax Sunday

The campaign comes to a climax Sunday, when Castro's 26th of July Movement celebrates the 6th anniversary of the start of the revolution against the now-fallen dictatorship of Fulgencio Batista. A huge rally is scheduled in downtown Havana.

"We'll let the people decide on the 26th of July," Castro told a rally early Thursday. There was little doubt the people at Sunday's rally will "decide" Castro should return to office. His supporters have it elaborately organized, from bus schedules to box lunches.

Thousands Arrive

The ostensible purpose of Sunday's rally is to demonstrate support for Castro's pet revolutionary program, agrarian reform. He has called for half a million peasants — "campesinos" — and about 150,000 have already arrived for what is being called a "vote of confidence."

"If they want to accuse me of anything," Castro said, "let them accuse me of having the people's support."

He insisted his resignation does not mean Cuba's social revolution is over or that he is going back on his principles. He hinted that he quit to prevent his enemies from branding him a tyrant. Then he said the people must decide whether they want him back.

Influence Is Denied By Irvine

Many Aircraft Jobs Offered Ex-General

Washington (UPI) — Retired Lt. Gen. Clarence S. Irvine, former Air Force deputy chief of staff, said Thursday that almost every major aircraft company in the country offered to put him on its payroll when he retired.

He finally picked the Avco Manufacturing Corp., which pays him $55,000 a year on top of his military retirement pay of $13,500.

(Gen. Irvine is a native of St. Paul, Neb.)

But Irvine, who retired last May, told House investigators he isn't happy in a "commercial job" and would have preferred to stay in the Air Force.

To meet such situations, he urged Congress to repeal so-called dual compensation laws which prevent retired officers from taking civilian government posts without giving up their retirement pay.

Irvine pooh-poohed the idea that any retired officer on a defense industry payroll could have much influence on the award of a defense contract. He said it was "possible," but "highly improbable."

"I never had any officer seek to influence me," he said. "And if they had I would have thrown them out on their ear."

Pershing Budget Is $147,683

The Pershing Municipal Auditorium's budget of $147,683 with a built-in deficit estimate of $45,283 was presented to the City Council at budget hearings Thursday night.

Auditorium Manager Dick Wagner estimated 1959-60 income of $102,400 against estimated expense of $147,683.

In budgeting tax-funds for this possible deficit, the Council has provided $45,000 in the city's contingency funds. Last year, $20,000 was budgeted and later appropriated to the auditorium to complete this fiscal year.

Lift Item

Operation and salary items were comparable with last year's with the budget increase largely coming in the request for a second fork-lift tractor costing $6,505.

Wagner said the second lift was needed to speed up auditorium change-overs for various events and as "insurance" against a breakdown on the other lift.

City Engineer Asks Salary Hike For Staff

City Engineer Carl Fisher urged a $25-a-month boost in the salary schedules for the professional and non-professional engineering staff members in his department during City Council budget hearings Thursday night.

Fisher said the proposed salary schedules were nearly equal, but not above, comparable salaries paid in the State Highway Dept.

He said the proposed adjustments, the first since 1956, were needed to secure engineers and also retain the present staff.

If authorized two more professional engineers, Fisher said the engineering department would be willing and able to undertake all the planning and engineering work for the city.

Consulting Firms

Because of lack of personnel, Fisher said, the city has used the services of consulting engineering firms on many projects.

Consulting services cost the city just twice the amount for which the city engineering department with a full staff could do the same work, Fisher said.

Disputed Loyalty Oath Plan Appears Defeated

Washington (AP) — The Senate Thursday night apparently wrote a death warrant for a bill to abolish the disputed loyalty oath provision of the National Defense Education Act.

By a 49-42 roll call vote, the Senate ordered the measure sent back to its Labor and Public Welfare Committee.

This was in the face of a protest by the bill's chief sponsor, Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass), that "I don't believe it will ever see the light of day again" if returned to committee.

The vote followed a day of heated debate and parliamentary maneuvering. Sen. Russell Long (D-La) make the motion to send the bill back to committee.

Fight Over Language

The fight centered about language in the education act which requires that students receiving grants, loans or other benefits under the act must file noncommunist affidavits and also swear allegiance to the United States.

Backers of the measure contended this singles out just one class—needy students applying for help—for an implied suspicion that they may be disloyal.

Supporters of the requirements contended no loyal person should consider it an affront to attest his allegiance and to disavow any ties to Communism.

Compromise

Kennedy and other backers of the repeal move had sought a compromise which would retain the oath of allegiance but knock out the noncommunist oath requirement.

Kennedy and Sen. Joseph S. Clark (D-Pa) originally called for the repeal of both the affidavit and oath requirements.

By a 46-45 roll call vote the Senate amended the measure to spell out that the education law's oath of allegiance requirement should remain with an added provision declaring specifically that anyone falsely swearing allegiance to obtain a benefit would be subject to punishment for perjury.

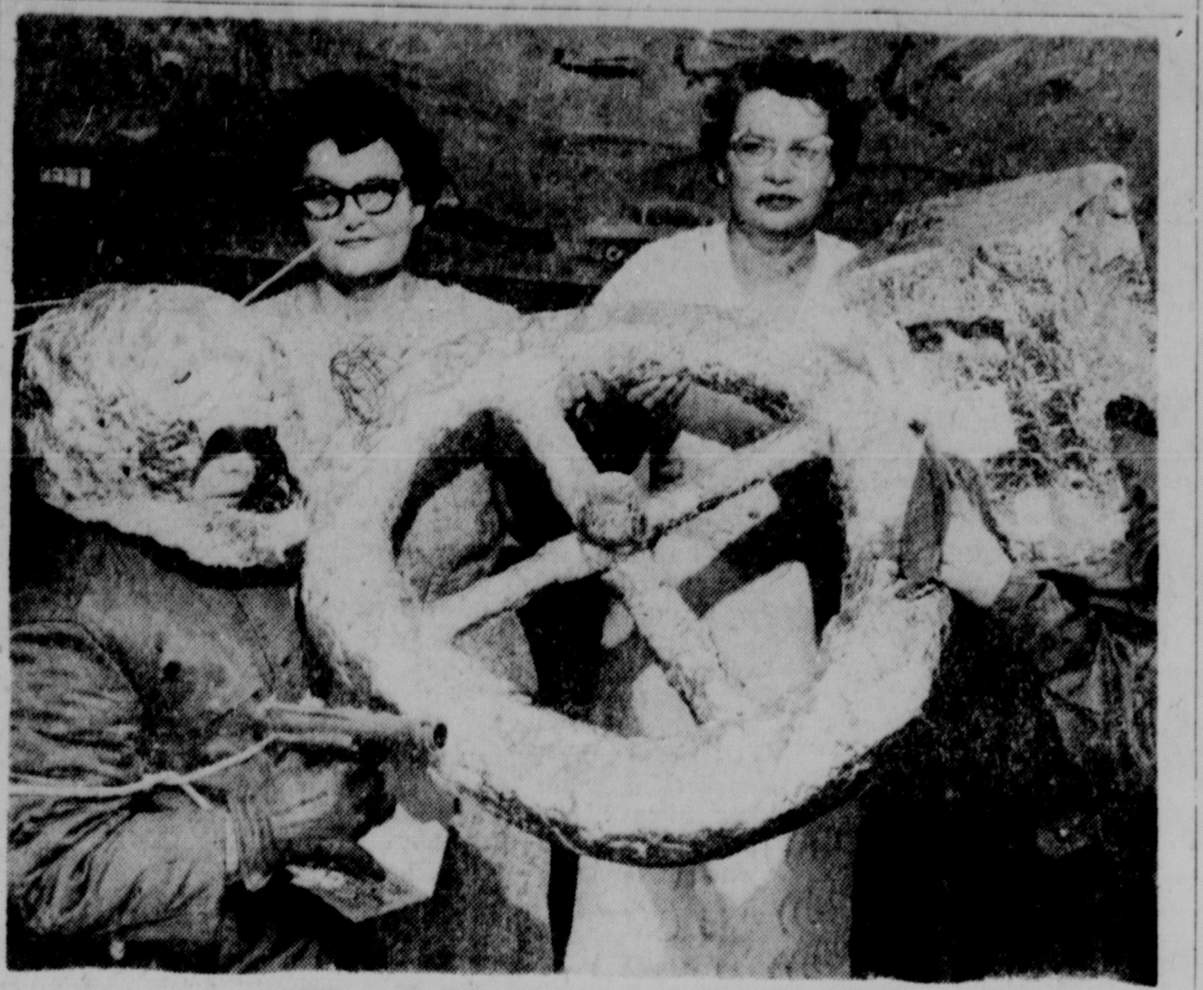
Javits Proposal

This amendment was sponsored by Sen. Jacob K. Javits (R-NY) to counter one by Sen. Karl E. Mundt (R-SD) which would have made it a felony for anyone advocating overthrow of the government to accept any benefit from the National Defense Education Act.

In the debate Clark contended the loyalty oath requirements constitute an "attempt to make second class citizens of the brains of America." He challenged the other side to require the same oath and affidavit from farmers, home buyers, bankers and anyone else benefiting from government aid.

Mundt contended the issue was this: "We're either for or against saying no one shall get loans if they advocate the overthrow of the government or belong to an organization that does."

Sen. Styles Bridges (R-NH) told his colleagues that if any of them voted for repeal "some day its going to come back and hit you in the face."



SPACE-AGE STUDENTS

Even The Grade Schoolers Are In Summer School Now

Do you know a youngster who wants to go to school in the summer? Probably not, but the 45 Park School 4th, 5th and 6th graders have been doing just that for a 6-weeks summer session, which ended Thursday.

Choosing voluntarily to go to summer school, these youngsters played major roles in an Aero-space seminar, which was directed by Fern Moxby of Springfield, Mo., and Frank Christensen of Lincoln.

The purpose of the seminar was to give elementary teachers an opportunity to become acquainted with materials and techniques to help enrich their regular teaching patterns concerning the air and space age.

3 Groups

The children were divided into 3 groups. The space age was approached from a different viewpoint in each group, keeping in mind, in all groups, that the subject would be something which teachers will want to teach as an integral part of the regular curriculum and not as a separate subject.

The fact that all the new developments of space travel did not just happen, but are the result of advances made in all travel by the nation's forefathers, was stressed.

Some of the features presented on this space program were top flight teachers from various parts of the midwest, who were awarded scholarships from the Link Foundation and the Air Force Assn. to attend the University of Nebraska Aero-space seminar.

Teachers attending the seminar were Hazel Palmer of Lincoln, Eileen Dlouhy of Lincoln, Bernice Brochtrup of Columbus, Osa Conde of San Antonio, Tex., Jesse Kadel of Jefferson County, Colo., and Margaret Scott of North Kansas City, Mo.

Skeptical

Vienna, Austria (AP) — Franz Cardinal Koenig, archbishop of Vienna, found Anton Soukop, 37, an artist, in his bedroom. "I am awfully sorry, Your Eminence," Soukop stammered. "I was in the diocese museum. I don't know how I got in here." The cardinal was skeptical and called police to investigate. Police, equally incredulous, accused Soukop of burglary despite his emphatic protests that he "only missed the way out."

Meierhenry Gets Visual Aids Grant

A grant of $10,000 has been awarded to Dr. Wesley C. Meierhenry, professor of school administration at the University of Nebraska, for study in the field of communications.

Meierhenry

The grant, one of several made by Teaching Film Custodians, Inc., New York City, will provide selected research workers the opportunity to determine areas of communications which need research and also the institutes equipped to carry it out.

Dr. Meierhenry, who was awarded the money as chairman of the audiovisual research committee of the National Education Association, named the following as members of his advisory committee who will help him with the project:

Dr. Lee Cochran, executive assistant of the extension division at the State University of Iowa; Dr. Charles Schuller, director of the audiovisual center at Michigan State University; and Dr William Fulton, associate professor of education at the University of Oklahoma.

The project is to extend over a two-year period beginning this month.

File To Incorporate

Articles of incorporation have been filed by the Neway Manufacturing Co. Inc., of Fremont, the Nebraska secretary of state's office reported Thursday.

Incorporators are Hillis C. Newman, Sr. and Hillis C. Newman Jr., both of Fremont. Capital stock was authorized at $25,000.

Air Guard Off To Camp Saturday

Four-hundred and fifty Nebraska Air National Guardsmen will leave Lincoln early Saturday for their annual 15-day training camp being held this year at Phelps-Collins Air National Guard Base at Alpena, Mich.

The Guardsmen, members of the 132nd Fighter Interceptor Wing (Iowa and Nebraska National Guard), are being flown to Alpena by commercial transportation.

According to Brig. Gen John M Campbell, chief of staff of the Nebraska Air National Guard, the men will practice rocket firing with F86D all-weather fighters over ranges on Lake Huron.

An advance convoy ground crew members left Lincoln earlier this week.

Royally Unhappy

Chicago (UPI) — Rudivoravan complained no one will hire her because she happens to be a princess. Rudivoravan is the granddaughter of King Mongut of Siam.

Order Upheld On Violation Of Soil Bank

The Federal Court has upheld an order that Howard F. Baltensperger of Nebraska City forfeit $629 of a 1957 acreage reserve payment for permitting a reserve to be grazed.

Baltensperger had filed suit against the United States in contesting an Otoe County ASC Committee order of forfeiture.

Judge Robert Van Pelt, ruling the order valid, found that cattle grazed the reserve because Baltensperger was "grossly negligent" in providing adequate fencing.

Vital Budget Matters

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

Some of the real meat of the proposed 1959-60 city budget was placed before the City Council at one of its latest sessions. It was served up by the Park, Recreation, Police and Fire Departments by way of expanded activities and manpower. It was the kind of meat housewives go for, not fat around the edges.

Serious Lack Of Manpower

Both Police Chief Joseph T. Carroll and Fire Chief E. Paul Feaster stressed their manpower problems. Feaster hit a familiar note when he pointed out that rigs are leaving the various fire stations with three and sometimes just two men. Many citizens have often remarked how ridiculous it looks to see the impressive fire rig rolling down the street but with just one or two men aboard, hardly enough to man the equipment they are riding. Much less would these few men be able to adequately control a fire. That they have controlled the big fires in the past is a tribute to their training and perhaps a little luck.

But some day, the latter is going to run out and Lincoln had better have the manpower to meet the situation or the loss could be terrific. Manpower numbers also plague the Police Department where all three shifts are running short and where, in an emergency, it is hard to say what might happen.

In routine patrolling, for both crime and traffic, any citizen can see from his own observation that improvement in numbers is needed. Better salaries, also, are a must in both departments, particularly with the police where it has been impossible to maintain even a hard core of veteran officers.

The longevity pay scale being sought also has merit, though it ranks behind over-all salary increases. As the situation now stands, an officer reaches a certain rank which he may maintain for 15 or 20 years on the force. While at this rank, he can receive no regular salary boost because an increase in rank is the only automatic way to a change in his scale.

After he has been at this rank for 15 years, for instance, a man on the force for three or four years may also reach the same rank. The new man is then at the same pay level as the man perhaps 15 years his senior in terms of years of service. The longevity scale would permit a man to advance some in pay over a period of years, even though he remains at the same rank. The system makes sense and it is hoped the Council wil be able to establish it, at least on a small scale.

In the Park Department budget are items of which no citizen would disapprove. Some may feel they couldn't afford them but they are a bargain if the financial hurdle can be cleared. One of them would initiate the long-planned improvement of Woods Park at 33rd and O. This brings up perhaps the saddest story of neglect in the city's history.

Due to past years of financial starvation, this wonderful park site, in what is considered the exact population center of the city, has lain idle. It has done so while other parks were crowded far beyond capacity —while people stood waiting for a fireplace and picnic table. Also, failure to develop the Woods tract is not very conducive to the kind of gifts to the city it represents.

Appropriation For Parks

Other park items include the resurfacing of certain roads in Pioneers Park, a modest appropriation of some $9,000 for the children's zoo and a few additional picnic tables, fireplaces and rest rooms. None of these things will make the parks outstanding but they will be of tremendous value. With its total budget, the Park Department appropriation would represent a tab of something like $3 per capita. This is about half of the $6 per capita minimum recommended by leading park authorities. Whatever the Council sees fit to approprirate for parks, it will be money well spent.

The swimming pool situation was discouraging to City Councilwoman Mrs. Helen Boosalis and this puts her in a class with a great many other people. The fact that the city needs more pools is accepted without question. Whatever could be appropriated for this purpose would be welcome but it should come only after the above matters have been provided for.

Quiet Anticlimax

President Eisenhower this week nominated Frederick Henry Mueller, Grand Rapids, Mich., for promotion to Secretary of Commerce.

Mueller has been acting secretary of the cabinet post since the Senate refused to confirm Eisenhower's first choice, Lewis L. Strauss.

The new nomination was in noticeable contrast to the stormy and controversial one that characterized the effort to win the place for Strauss. But it appears there will be little resistance to Mueller.

This is curious because if Mueller has a program or a controversial philosophy about running the department it is not generally known. In most places he is accepted as a steady administrator. But for that matter Mr. Strauss was never scrutinized by the Senate for anything he proposed to do as the presiding officer of the Department of Commerce, and if he contemplated any radical changes he never so stated. And to make it more complicated it is to be assumed that since both Mr. Strauss and Mr. Mueller are satisfactory to President Eisenhower both harbor policies closely akin and in harmony with the general philosophy of the administration.

The most one can make of it is that the storm has blown itself out and that Mr. Strauss, himself, might today be running the department except for a certain grating personality which acted on the Senate's temper somewhat like the chemical the cloud seeders use to provoke a storm.

A Welcome Action

The investigation of foreign aid administration in Viet Nam by the Senate Foreign Relations Commtitee under Sen. J. William Fullbright should be a most useful action. Fortunately or unfortunately, it comes too late to affect this year's foreign aid bill. The House and Senate have now sent to the President a $3.5 million aid bill, just 10 per cent less than he requested.

All four Nebraskans in the House, two Republicans and two Democrats, voted against the measure, which might make some people wonder what sort of a change it was they made in the 1958 elections. But the committee investigation will or should help to clarify the long-standing dispute over foreign aid. Those who have opposed this program have invariably done so on the premise that it has been misadministered.

There have been claims of wasteful spending and of personal use of the funds by foreign political leaders. It has been said that the program has cost us as many if not more friends than it has made for us. But there has always been a noticeable lack of proof of these claims. The Fullbright committee investigation should settle the question once and for all.

If funds are being wasted and used to line the pockets of a few influential politicians, then the practice should be stopped. If this is not the case, the public will know and the foreign aid program can live or die on its merits, where the issue should be settled. Because of the lack of knowledge in this one area, a very essential element of the current world conflict has been denied fair consideration by the American people.

The program has not been judged on its humanitarian aspects or upon its political implications. We have been more worried over the wasting of a few dollars than we have been over the challenge of Soviet economic and military advances. We should not ignore waste or extravagance but we should first know to what extent it exists and then place it in proper perspective.

Savannah Is Christened

It took such a practiced christener as Mamie Eisenhower several extra swings to break the beribboned bottle of champagne over the bow of the brand new nuclear ship Savannah.

In the short view Mrs. Eisenhower's difficulty with the resistant bottle shows that there has been improvement in the glass industry, and the country likes such little examples that it is steadily moving ahead.

But in the long view the christening of the Savannah was more than the christening of a ship. It was a sign that the U.S. has opened another door to the nuclear age. At the same time its emphasis on a commercial nuclear vessel is notice to the world that this nation really means its bit about making split atoms the strong and ready servant of man rather than his destroyer.

The Savannah is a foreward looking ship. In the opinion of Admiral Rickover, father of the nuclear powered submarine, it will be a long while before ships like the Savannah will be able to compete with conventionally powered ships. Atomic fuel is long lasting and smooth running, and it is expensive. But human ingenuity generally finds ways and means of beating the cost factor once a newly discovered facility proves its usefulness.

If the Savannah does no more than prove this country's motive to the world, and teaches the lesson of progress to the retarded sections of the world the amount and cost of fuel it consumes is of small consequence. It was a heady day when the Savannah was christened.

Just Too Much

Postmaster General Summerfield bridled at the thought of Lady Chatterly's Lover including the mails in his activities and so ordered the book out of the postoffices.

Now comes New York Judge Frederick Bryan to rule that there is no obscenity and therefore the mails are again running unvexed and unlimited.

One doesn't know what effect all of this yes and no business has had on the public, but one can imagine that Lady Chatterly's Lover has had enough of it and is ready to go back to workaday things himself.

The High-Flyer

The story of the South Sioux City youngster who didn't have his dime at Sunday school because there were no candy bars offered in exchange reminds us of another. This was a Lincoln lad. He marched up to the collection plate, hesitated, and was urged to drop his coin in. "No," he decided emphatically. "I'm saving it for a helicopter." and he marched right down again.

Well, one set of wings is as good as another, we guess.

Red Hunters Hurt U.S.-Cuban Amity

WASHINGTON — The inside story can now be told how immigration Commissioner Joe Swing and Redhunter Julian Sourwine kept Fidel Castro's escaped Air Force chief, Maj. Pedro Luis Diaz Lanz, away from the State Department until they could exploit him for their own purposes.

Their conspiracy resulted in sensational headlines that severely damaged Pan-American relations. It also gave Castro an opportunity to blast the U.S. for interfering in Cuban affairs when actually we have remained meticulously out.

What most North Americans may not realize is that Sen. James Eastland of Mississippi, chairman of the Internal Security Committee, is unpopular with dark-skinned Latin Americans not only for advocating white supremacy but for championing the Dominican Republic's hated dictator, Rafael Trujillo. So when Major Lanz testified under Eastland's auspices, it played right into Castro's hands.

Major Lanz happens to be against all dictators, whether it is Castro, under whom he once fought, or Trujillo, whose kind he fought against. But being innocent of American politics, Lanz was easily hoodwinked by Eastland's agents. Result: By reminding Latin America that Eastland had praised Dictator Trujillo lavishly in a speech to the Dominican legislature, Castro was able to discount the sincere young major's testimony.

Arizona's flamboyant GOP Senator, Barry Goldwater, has won his dogged battle to get the Senate Rackets Committee to investigate his arch-foe, auto workers' boss Walter Reuther. The Republicans will be permitted to investigate their charges that auto union officials have misused a volunteer fund, called the "flower fund," which Reuther claims is collected to fight Communism and racketeering in the labor movement. The Republicans want to subpoena Richard T. Gosser a UAW vice president in Toledo . . . Dictator Kassem of Iraq is on the verge of a crackup. He's been virtually living in his office, getting only three and four hours of sleep, and is so tired that his doctors have warned him that if he doesn't slow down, they won't be responsible.

Poor Auspices For "Operation Nixon"

WASHINGTON—The political winds blew coolly from the White House and the Kremlin on the Nixon takeoff.

President Eisenhower himself proved to be the "authoritative source" who blanketed the Nixon story on the front pages and air waves with strong statements of the Eisenhower views on matters foreign and domestic.

Soon afterward the President took the occasion of his press conference to remind the public that the vice-president could not be a negotiator in Moscow but was repaying the ceremonial visit here of Soviet Deputy Premier Frol Kozlov. The President was polite about Nixon's importance, but he carefully outlined the Nixon "constitutional position" under which the vice-president has no executive power.

In Moscow, Premier Nikita Khrushchev told western reporters he was puzzled by Nixon's aims in going to Moscow. The Communist party newspaper also complained that the United States was launching a provocative new anti Soviet campaign, a move hardly adding to the warmth of Nixon's reception.

To achieve the picture of a strong and decisive president very much at the helm of the ship of state, Eisenhower opened up in an unprecedented manner at an unprecedented dinner for the 16 reporters regularly assigned to the White House. The impression left by their stories was that the chief executive and commander-in-chief — Eisenhower, that is — is boss and wants everybody to know it.

Such tangled threads are not quickly or easily unraveled. The curbstone opinion here is that both the vice-president and Khrushchev gave somewhat too much evidence of being eager to talk about substantive matters to suit either the White House or the western foreign ministers now meeting in Geneva.

Exactly what Nixon said in his pre-departure briefings is difficult to check, for the briefings were informal and confined to his touring party. But stories emanating from them showed him highly self-confident and talking freely about preparations going far beyond the demands of ceremony. One headline suggested the Nixon-Khrushchev talks would be a "little summit meeting."

This could not possibly pass muster with the President, who the night before had authorized stories from his dinner table that he had all but written off a summit meeting. The President said then he did not think Khrushchev really wanted the summit except on his own terms but was only trying to split the western allies.

That the western foreign ministers should react sharply and suspiciously to any slightest hint from Washington that they might be undercut is only natural. It is being recalled that while John Foster Dulles was alive, the vice-president was not allowed to orbit beyond the Iron Curtain. No one here believes the Nixon party would have assumed its present proportions were Dulles still at state.

Again the trouble is that Nixon is involved with his reputation for ruthlessness and risk-taking where his own fortunes are at stake. Perhaps Secretary Christian Herter is less affected by it than most, but Europe is familiar with it, and it must be remembered that France's De Gaulle and West Germany's Adenauer do not want a summit meeting, big or little.

Bob Marvin of the Beatrice Sun did a little vacationing in Minnesota lake country, and wasn't completely satisfied with the sojourn. Perhaps part of it was returning home and finding the same delightful cool breeze in Nebraska.

"Fishing wasn't as good as we'd hoped it would be — but then, has it ever been?"

And to add insult to injury, after instructing his oldest boy in the fine points of the pastime, the boy managed to outfish his father at every cast of the line.

"Beginner's luck," sneered the frustrated newsman-angler.

Oshkosh may be in for an unchecked crime wave. It has always been our impression that all little boys wanted to grow up to be policemen. But not in Oshkosh . . .

The city is in need of a chief of police and also another officer. The fact has been duly advertised, but no applications have been forthcoming. Good pay and easy work, urges the Garden County News.

Kimball is welcoming back a familiar figure on the local scene that has been almost a fond memory. The Western Nebraska Observer calls them "white wings," and they are the street sweepers of another era, those who pushed their carts by hand and swept street and gutter clean. The mechanical sweepers have replaced them.

However, with so many parked cars, the big machines have not been doing too thorough a job, so city and county sheriffs in Kimball have put prisoners to work at the job, working out their fines. The Observer is not exactly in favor of a crime wave there, "but we hope they keep enough heip on hand in the jug to man the push brooms regularly."

Hyde Sweet had quite an astute and (for a man) sage observation in the Nebraska City News-Press:

"You are treading on broken glass when you seriously criticize women . . . Women reassert themselves so boldly these days and make men feel so much like worms, that to criticize them at all means getting into hot water, very hot."

A storm blew the henhouse door open at the Lester Eastwood farm near Pawnee City, and it was quite a trick the next morning to round up the scattered flock.

Said Mrs. Eastwood in the Republican . . . "Actually we should forget about them for hens are almost worthless these days. I have vowed that before I sell any more of them for a quarter —I got 24 cents apiece for the last crate of setters—I'll wring their necks and feed them to the hogs."

When little Richy Anderson of South Sioux City returned home from Sunday School still in possession of the dime he took along with him, his mother, Mrs. Richard Anderson, inquired why he hadn't given his money. "They didn't have any candy bars," was the logical explanation.

Nixon Trip

Lincoln, Neb.

He has launched his campaign with a loaded jet-plane
Of advisors, attendants and aides in his train,
Which makes this occasion resemble invasion
Instead of a mission of peaceful persuasion.

In a country afar, once the land of the Czar,
He will talk with Nikita, and eat caviar,
While Ike's younger brother will cleverly smother
The candidate's fumbles in some way or other.

When the stern Muscovites have shown him the sights,
Including their missiles and new satellites,
He'll beat all the deadlines to make the big headlines,
While Milton will see that he parks on no redlines.

And upon his return, he will soon let us learn
Of the howling success of his Russian sojourn,
With row upon row of big headlines to show
From the trip that was paid for with taxpayers' dough.

The Material

Lincoln, Neb.

That religion is the "crux" of the matter (Star editorial June 20) should have been self-evident 40 years ago and the differences met objectively by free and open discussions. No sacred cow should be tolerated in this nation. Christianity and Communism should be open to criticism on the same basis. Proving one false does not make the other true . . .

Only through the material can life be produced and maintained. Only through knowledge of life can the spiritual thrive. Only by material means can knowledge be accumulated and projected into the future. To belittle the material in any way is to undermine the spiritual. Take away the telephone, radio, television, newspapers, magazines, books, etc., and man would be back in the dark ages . . .

Higher Taxes

Lincoln, Neb.

The hour is late, though not too late for Lincoln homeowners to alert the three local budget bodies, namely, the City Council, the county commissioners, and the Lincoln School Board, if they wish to preserve the status quo on their real estate taxes. In addition to having had our real estate taxes more than doubled during the last 10 years, most Lincolnites are now paying the sanitary sewer use fee charges and also the more recent referendum wheel taxes.

From these multiple money-raising sources, it would seem that there should be substantial surpluses of the much sought after gelt. Let us hope that out of the grand totals, a small sum is reserved for necessary purposes such as fixing the City Hall roof.

We can only trust that this year the three budget bodies aforementioned will give the local taxpayers a 50-50 chance in catching up with these inflationary budgets involving public funds. Here in Lincoln we must avoid the Michigan story of payless paydays.

Real Violators

Lincoln, Neb.

What kind of propaganda are the governor and police putting out — headlines in the paper about handing out tickets to car drivers. It isn't much of a job when they sit behind a bush and catch drivers going one, two or even five miles over the limit.

Coming in from Omaha out at Bethany, you are going 35 and all of a sudden a 25-mile sign appears without any kind of warning to reduce speed. Naturally if you want to go 25 all of a sudden, you'd have to slam on the brakes. But two blocks into that 25-mile zone, a policeman stops you and says you're going 30.

Why don't they try to catch some of those who really speed? I drive a lot and have never seen one stopped who was really reckless.

There was an accident downtown at 12th and M the other day and it took 25 minutes before the police arrived.

Why not be fair and be where you can do the most good?

Remote Control

Lincoln, Neb.

July 26 will be a dark day in United States history. The transfer of nuclear weapons systems to NATO countries will defeat the efforts of bringing the nuclear missile race under control. The core of the issue is not so much that men are struck with blindness, that they have forgotten the outcome of past arms races. The core is rather whether we still have the moral vigor to refrain from doing by remote control what no sensitive human being could do with his own hand.

Karl Meyer has said this at the missile base:

"Nothing can justify the mass killing that is being prepared. The gospel of Christ cries out against these missile bases and nuclear bombs. He does not permit us to exterminate our enemies and the holy innocents besides. We have an obligation to Christ, our Lord, to turn from killing and war and to cry out from the housetops the moral need to replace missiles and war preparation with repentance, love and the gospel of peace."

Ainsworth Water Hearing Ends; No Ruling Before Late August

By Betty Person

A controversial 3-day hearing on the Ainsworth Irrigation District's application for water priority rights from the Snake River ended Thursday, but a ruling on the matter is not expected before late August or early September.

The hearing was held before State Water Resources Director Dan Jones Jr. who said he would not rule on the application until the transcript of the hearing had been completed which apparently will be late August.

The Ainsworth application is opposed by a group of 7 ranchers who contend that granting the requested priority will result in diversion of water from the Snake River to the Niobrara River.

Lincoln attorney Roger Dickeson, representing the protesting ranchers, made a second motion Thursday seeking dismissal of the application.

Cites Statutes

Dickeson said Nebraska statutes provide that water cannot be taken from a stream for irrigation purposes if the water is not returned, and charged that all evidence given at the hearing shows "clearly, definitely and without equivocation that the water will not be returned to the Snake and will be returned to the Niobrara."

Dickeson also declared the State Department of Water Resources has "no jurisdiction" in the matter.

Lincoln attorney Bert Overcash, representing the Ainsworth District, objected again to the motion for dismissal. His objection was overruled by Jones who said he would issue a written ruling on the dismissal motion when he acts upon the application.

Thursday's hearing opened with testimony from Bureau of Reclamation Research Economist Harold L. Davis of Denver who said the 33,960-acre Ainsworth project was expected to increase the annual crop value in the district "more than $3 million, mostly from livestock."

'Highest'

The benefit-cost ratio of the proposed Ainsworth project "is the highest" in comparison with 7 other irrigation units in the Kansas and Nebraska area, Davis said.

Asked if the interest factor had been used in computing the cost of the project, Davis said the interest rate used was 2½%, but he acknowledged under cross examination that interest rates now are in excess of 4%.

The per acre investment was reported at $763 but the figure does not include interest.

Dickeson asked what the effect would be.

30% Pay

Davis pointed out that irrigators do not pay the $763, but pay 30% of the overall $26.5 million cost, which amounts to $6.7 million on the irrigation investment over a period of 40 years.

Dickeson then asked what effect it would have if interest rates were boosted to 4%, and Davis answered, "I doubt if the repayments would ever pay the interest charges."

Dickeson then read from Congressional testimony by Bureau of Reclamation Chief Floyd Dominy in which it was stated that the $763 per acre investment would be boosted to $8,600 if figured with 3% compounded interest.

Dickeson's reading of Dominy's testimony brought vigorous objection from Overcash, but he was overruled and it was admitted as evidence.

Dickeson then introduced evidence which showed a group of residents in the District, whose property totals about 7,000 acres, have asked to withdraw from the District.

Overcash objected on the grounds that before the land could be withdrawn the owners must have the approval of the District Board of Directors and the secretary of the interior, which has not been obtained, but he was overruled.

Fred C. Walker of Denver, chief of the dam design division for the Bureau, began to testify on the proposed Merritt Dam on the Snake River, but his testimony was concluded when Dickeson questioned under what authority he was testifying.

'Verbal Authority'

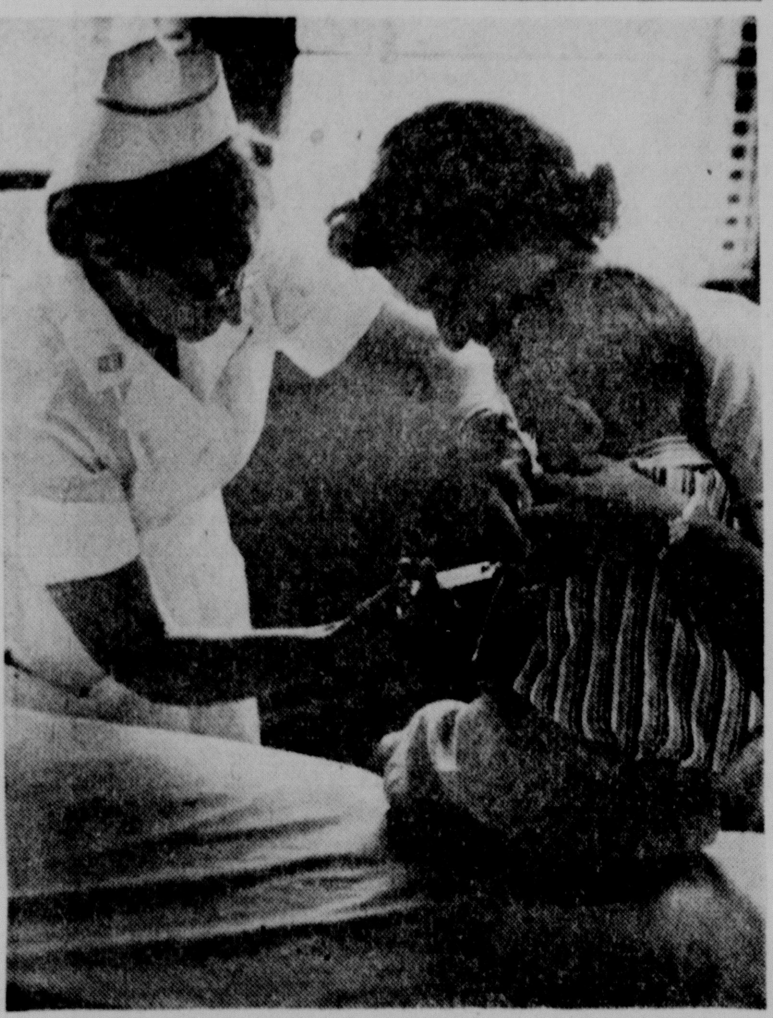
Walker read from his travel authority which stated that he was authorized to come to Lincoln to "testify on the feasibility of the Ainsworth project." He added he had "verbal" authority from the Department of Interior solicitor's office in Denver which had said it was in "the public interest" for him to testify.

He was then excused and did not return to the stand, although he remained in the hearing room throughout the day.

Ben Clark of Ainsworth, president of the Irrigation District, testified that it was his opinion that a majority of the district residents want the Ainsworth project.

Morris F. Skinner of Ainsworth, a geologist employed by the Fricke Laboratories of New York, testified next declaring that the proposed irrigation project was "certainly feasible or I wouldn't be here as a private citizen talking about it.

When testimony had been concluded, Jones said he would allow the objectors until Aug. 15 to file a brief on the matter, give the applicants 5 days to answer that brief, and the objectors another 5 days to answer that.



PROTECTION AGAINST POLIO

Sgt. and Mrs. Alden Pitzer, was one of 203 military dependents getting shots at the clinic. Base hospital officials said that 292 Air Force personnel received shots at the clinic. Similar clinics will be held Friday and Monday through Thursday of next week in an attempt to get all 6,000 LAFB personnel and their families innoculated. Clinic hours are 7:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. (Star Photo.)

Pershing Auditorium To Be Available For Bingo Games

Pershing Municipal Auditorium will be available for bingo games on a rental basis to organizations qualifying under recently-passed legislation.

The Advisory Committee agreed to this policy when Auditorium Manager Dick Wagner reported several inquiries from interested organizations.

Richard W. Chapin was reelected chairman of the Advisory Committee at its meeting. Other renamed officers were John E. Curtiss, vice chairman, and Sam Haupt, secretary.

Wagner told the committee that ice skating revenue was "considerably improved" for this summer session compared with previous years.

There will be some loss, Wagner said, but nothing like previous years.

Wagner credited the Lincoln Figure Skating Club with having a major role in the improved situation.

Final attendance and financial figures on the 30-day summer session will not be available until after Sunday, when the session ends.

Wagner indicated that this summer's experience would probably be the basis for next summer's skating program.

8 Union Men Convicted In N. Carolina Bomb Plot

Henderson, N.C. (AP)—A superior court jury convicted 8 union men of plotting to burn or dynamite vital installations of the struck Harriet-Henderson cotton mills here.

The shirt-sleeved jurors from neighboring Franklin County chorused "guilty" as a court clerk droned off the wording of the 3 counts of the conspiracy indictments against each of the 8.

Defense lawyers, including Hugo Black Jr., son of an associate justice of the U.S. Supreme Court, said they would appeal.

Boyd E. Payton of Charlotte, 51-year-old Carolinas director of the Textile Workers Union of America, resting his cheek on fingertips, and his co-defendants heard the 24 verdicts in poker faced silence.

Others convicted were Charles Auslander and Lawrence Gore, minor union officials; and Johnny Martin, 57; Robert Edward Abbott, 21; Warren Walker, 38; Malcolm Jarrell, 23; and Calvin Ray Pegram, 22.

Each man could be sentenced to a maximum of 15 years on each count, or 45 years.

The defendants were accused of conspiring to destroy a power substation, office building and boiler room of the south Henderson plant of the Harriet-Henderson Cotton Mills.

The defense offered no testimony after the state had presented 16 witnesses, including agents of the State Bureau of Investigation, who said they had recorded on tape conversations of defendants at a meeting in a motel room at Roanoke Rapids.

The state based its case mainly on the testimony of Harold Aaron, 32-year-old unemployed machinist who worked as an undercover agent for the FBI. Aaron testified that the defendants hired him as a dynamite expert. He testified that at various times he met or talked with the defendants about the alleged plot.

The TWUA struck the mills last Nov. 17 after management refused to continue an arbitration clause in a contract. The mills stood idle until a reopening in February with nonunion workers.

Retractable roof coverings feature launcher buildings at Cheyenne's Atlas missile base.

Cheyenne Atlas Launchers Accepted

The Air Force Regional Engineer Thursday announced formal acceptance from the U.S. Army Engineers of the first two Atlas launcher buildings completed at Warren Air Force Base at Cheyenne, Wyo.

The launchers are ready for installation of equipment for actually projecting the Atlas ICBMs into their trajectories.

The similarity between the 3 Cheyenne missile squadrons and the squadron planned for the Lincoln area will be slight, said Air Force Regional Engineer Col. James S. Caples in Omaha.

Big Difference

The main difference, he said, is that the Cheyenne installations will be "soft" or above ground and exposed, while the Lincoln launchers will be underground or "hardened."

Negotiations for purchase of land around Lincoln for the sites will begin "very soon," Col. Caples told the Star.

Two operational buildings and a guidance installation were completed along with the launcher buildings at Cheyenne. Omaha district Army Engineers supervised the construction.

Total cost of the first squadron at Cheyenne will be over $15 million not including about $1.5 million of supply contracts.

Cost Similar

Cost of the Lincoln missile complex has been estimated to probably be in the neighborhood of that at Forbes Air Force Base, Topeka, Kan., where contracts totaling $12 million were awarded.

The completed launchers and supporting facilities are part of the first launcher squadron at Cheyenne which will consist of 6 Atlas launching pads, all of which are scheduled for completion by early fall.

The Air Force Engineer said the second launcher squadron in the Cheyenne area is now in the initial construction stage. It will consist of 9 additional launcher buildings and support facilities, located on 3 separate sites in the Cheyenne perimeter.

Facilities for a 3rd squadron, in 9 separate additional sites, is under design by the Air Force Ballistic Missile Division. Current estimates indicate the total cost of the over-all project will be about $70 million.

The Atlas project at Cheyenne will provide the nation with its first operational ICBM installation. The Atlas project at Vandenberg Air Force Base in California is presently operating as a ballistic missile crew training base, and when construction is completed, will also have an operational ability.

Advertising of bids for the construction of the Lincoln ICBM complex is planned for September or October, Col. Caples said, and the contracts will be awarded in December or January, he added.

Soil Survey Lab May Get New Home

The Soil Survey Laboratory of the Soil Conservation Service in Lincoln may have a new home after April 1, 1960.

Thomas G. Jay, regional commissioner of the General Services Administration, has announced that the GSA will advertise for bids on 6,100 feet of usable office, laboratory, storage and use-related space. Space offered must be within the city limits of Lincoln, Jay said.

Date of possession will be April 1, Jay announced, and the space will be obtained under a 5 year non-cancellable lease.

James Allen, head of the local Soil Survey Laboratory, said that the facility employs 17 persons in Lincoln. The Soil Survey Laboratory office has been located at 1325 N for the last 3 years.

LINCOLN'S NEVER DULL

Took a good look in all of the nooks and corners this ayem and couldn't find a dull moment anywhere. Lincoln is busy, and no small portion of the activity is due to guests, current and potential. There is news from the dinner club department, too — and, as one might expect, there are courtesies for popular brides-elect.

* * *

—It was last Tuesday that Mr. and Mrs. Roy Iverson and their daugher, Jan, arrived from Superior, Wis., for a visit with Mrs. Iverson's uncle and aunts, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Du Teau, whose house guests they are —Mr. and Mrs. Alfred DuTeau and Mr. and Mrs. Elsworth DuTeau. Since their arrival the guest threesome has been the incentive for a variety of family affairs.

The late week calendar includes two courtesies for the visitors — One of the courtesies was the picnic supper for which Mr. and Mrs. Elsworth DuTeau were host and hostess in the garden at their home on Thursday evening.

And on Saturday evening Mr. and Mrs. Alfred DuTeau will honor Mr. and Mrs. Iverson and their daughter when they entertain at a picnic at their farm.

* * *

—Sunday will bring Dr. and Mrs. Harry Senger from Boston for a 10 days visit with Mrs. Senger's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William I. Aitken.

Next Tuesday evening Dr. and Mrs. Senger (Nancy Aitken) will be complimented when Mr. and Mrs. Aitken are a picnic host and hostess at their home. The guest list will include friends of Mrs. Senger.

* * *

—But back to the week end—

Hear that there is to be fun at South Bend on Saturday afternoon and evening —Mr. and Mrs. Edwin C. Perry are entertaining the members of their dinner club at their South Bend cabin.

The group that will be on hand for an afternoon of swimming and a barbecue supper includes club members Mr. and Mrs. Michael Lawlor, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Luikart, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Carter Iddings, and Mr. and Mrs. Randall P. Ayer Two member couples, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sherwood and Mr. and Mrs. Gates Minnick, will not be present, and in their places will be guests Mr. and Mrs. Don Harrington, Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. Morton Novak.

* * *

—Today is party day for Miss Mary Dieterich of Omaha whose marriage to Roger Schindler will take place on Sunday, Aug. 9.

Miss Dieterich will be complimented by Mrs. Giles Henkle and Mrs. Edwin Hammond who have invited 18 guests for an 11 o'clock brunch at the home of Mrs. Hammond. The soon-to-be bride will be presented with a miscellaneous shower.

* * *

—And this is the morning that Mrs. Theo Miller is a coffee hostess at her home in courtesy to Miss Lucy Webster, whose marriage to Wayne Robertson takes place on Aug. 7 — and Miss Barbara Beechner who has chosen a date in September for her marriage to Charles Ziegenbein. But since we mentioned Mrs. Miller's coffee a few days ago we'll go to other things.

* * *

—We must open our guest book again to tell you that young Andy Bunten (William Andrew Bunten, III) is the guest of his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Elsworth DuTeau. We hear that Mr. and Mrs. William Andrew Bunten, Jr., and their daughter, Connie, will be arriving from Cheyenne, Wyo., on Aug. 1, for a visit with Mrs. Bunten's parents, Mr. and Mrs. DuTeau, and when they return to Cheyenne they will be accompanied by their son and brother.

* * *

—Arriving tomorrow to spend the week end in Lincoln will be Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Smith of Pueblo, Colo., who are to be the house guests of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Carter (Mary Knorr). Mrs. Smith will be remembered in former campus circles as Miss Luanne Raun, Kappa Kappa Gamma at Nebraska.

* * *

—Away for the summer is Billy Nefsky, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Nefsky, who has been at Camp Nebagamon, Wis., for several weeks, and who won't be returning home until late August.

Up In The Air With The Russians

Ferrying Soviet First Deputy Premier Krol Koslov around the country was like taking part in a foreign intrigue movie, say three airline stewardesses.

Beverly and Shirley Tobiason and Margaret Arndt were the hostesses aboard the National Airlines DC-7-B which the state department chartered for Koslov on a two-week official visit. His party numbered 33, including diplomats, Russian and American newsmen, security officers and interpreters.

"We were nervous wrecks before that trip was over," said Beverly, 27, a shapely blonde. Her sister, 25, is red-haired and equally shapely.

The plane was under 24-hour security watch until the trip was over, the women said in an interview after the trip. Crew members were investigated before being assigned to the flight. Luggage of passengers and crew was checked by Geiger counter and was fluoroscoped at each landing and take-off. Russian and American security officers stood watch each time baggage was loaded or unloaded. Scheduled de-planing positions were changed before each landing.

All food served on the plane was checked by Geiger counter for radiation poisoning. No outsiders were allowed on board except caterers, whose every move was followed closely. Security men watched all hotel rooms and were present everytime maids, bell hops, waiters or other outsiders entered the rooms.

"It really was weird," Beverly said. "Every time we heard a car backfire, we were scared out of our wits. One night we called our roommates from a hotel room. We told them the trip was like foreign intrigue—and just then all the lights went out."

The stewardesses were chosen for the trip because of their experience in charter flights. Miss Arndt, the senior hostess, who hails from Newton, N.C., is a veteran of 13 years.

The Tobiason sisters have been flying three and a half years. Born in Seattle and reared in San Francisco, they went into show business as a trio with another sister, Patty. Billed as the "Taylor Maids," they sang with Guy Lombardo and toured Korea with Bob Hope in 1950. When Patty married, Shirley and Beverly wound up trying for an airline job on a dare. Two pilots had bet them no airline would hire sisters.

"Our immediate reaction to the Russians was frightening," Beverly recalled.

"They were so sophisticated, smooth, cordial and American-looking. I was talking with one man and asked where he lived, thinking he was one of the American newsmen from some place like Nebraska. It gave me cold chills when he said Moscow. He was Koslov's interpreter and had no Russian accent."

Koslov was "like a typical politician," the women said. The Russians in general were "just like any other passengers."

During the trip, the visitors consumed great quantities of food and American cigarettes, tried to convince the girls that a Russian discovered America and admitted they were impressed that the sisters live in Miami with two other girls in a 12-room house with swimming pool and air-conditioning.

At the embassy, they called everyone 'Comrade,' and drank endless toasts of vodka, said Beverly. "But do you know what gave me an eerie feeling? A big picture of Khrushchev was on the wall in front of me, and I had to stare at his bald head all through the meal!"

Wesleyan Classmates Are Guests

Before leaving on a five-week vacation trip this week end, Miss Frances Albers entertained a group of classmates from Nebraska Wesleyan University at a barbecue held at her home on Wednesday.

Miss Albers and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Albers, will be vacationing in Portland, Ore.

Former Coed Is Bride

MRS. JAMES FREDERICK EGENBERGER

White gladioli in pedestal arrangements decorated the chancel of St. Joseph's Church in Beatrice on Saturday, July 18, for the wedding of Miss Charlotte Ann Drishaus, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Drishaus of Beatrice, and James Frederick Egenberger of Kansas City, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Egenberger of Brady. The service was solemnized at 10:30 o'clock in the morning in the presence of 225 guests.

Wearing alike frocks of white nylon sheer over blue taffeta and sashed in matching blue were Miss Mary Drishaus of Beatrice, who was her sister's maid of honor, and the bridesmaids, Miss Margaret Moore, Lincoln; Miss Mary Ann Egenberger, Brady, sister of the bridegroom; and Mrs. Edgar Bredemeier, DuBois. Their tiny hats of pearl-trimmed taffeta were veiled with blue illusion, and they carried crescents of red roses.

Bill Egenberger of Brady served his brother as best man, and seating the guests were Terry Egenberger, also a brother of the bridegroom, and Jerry Egenberger, Brady; Bill McCullough, Arapahoe; Wayne Krepel, Columbus; and Richard Wischmeier, Wilcox.

For her wedding, the bride chose a gown of white silk taffeta. The snug bodice was overlaid with imported Venise lace, which formed the shoulder-wide decolletage, and the abbreviated sleeves were completed by mitts of the silk. Below the narrow waist, the skirt flared into fullness, caught into a modified back bustle, and extended into a chapel train. A cap of pearl-embroidered taffeta held her illusion veil, and she carried a white orchid showered with stephanotis.

Mr. and Mrs. Egenberger, both graduates of the University of Nebraska, will make their home in Kansas City. A member of Chi Omega sorority and Pi Lambda Theta, the bride taught in the Fremont schools last year. Mr. Egenberger was a member of Newman Club, and served as a lieutenant with the Armed Forces in Korea.

'Cousins' Luncheon Honors Bride

Mrs. Philip Stephens, who before her marriage on June 12 was Miss Judith Ann Lundt, was complimented on Thursday by Mrs. W. H. Howey who entertained at luncheon at the Lincoln Country Club. The guest list included only the cousins of Mr. Stephens.

Dear Abby . . .

Take It Or Leave It!

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I would appreciate some advice from you or any of your readers who have had my kind of trouble. My husband hit me last night. My eye is swollen shut and half my face is black and blue. I don't dare go home to my parents now because they would pressure me into filing for divorce.

We have been married for two years and have a baby a year old. My husband apologized.

I want to know if any other wife whose husband hit her was able to straighten out her marriage enough to make a success of it.

WAITING

DEAR WAITING: Common sense dictates that when a marriage is at stake, it is aways wise to give your mate a second chance. But if a woman sticks around after having been hit twice —she's either numb or dumb.

☆ ☆ ☆

DEAR ABBY: I married when I was 18 and I now have two children. The oldest is 14 months old and the baby is four months. I just found out I am pregnant again. The last thing on earth I want right now is another baby. I am so worn out from having them so close together I am ready for a nervous breakdown. My husband isn't working steady and his people and mine live too far away to help me. The Church I was raised in doesn't allow birth control.

SALL

DEAR SALL: You have to help yourself. If your Church doesn't allow BIRTH CONTROL you will have to rely on SELF-CONTROL.

☆ ☆ ☆

DEAR ABBY: After seven years of a childless marriage and running to doctors, my husband and I are giving up hope of ever having our own baby. I have tried to talk him into trying to adopt one.

My husband says he does not want to run the risk of getting a child who might grow up to be abnormal.

We have friends who have had wonderful luck with adopted children. But my husband thinks we won't be that lucky. How can I convince him to put our names in for adoption?

WANTING A FAMILY

DEAR WANTING: Your husband surely is aware that parents have no guarantee that their own child will grow up to be "normal." Thousands of couples have known more happiness from their adopted children than parents who have had their own.

Yes, and there are even folks who have intentionally adopted a handicapped child. That is the noblest act of all.

If you have a problem, write to Abigail Van Buren in care of this paper. She will be glad to answer your letter. For a personal reply, enclose a self-addressed envelope.

Square Dance Activities

Members of the Joymakers Square Dance Club will be hosts and hostesses Saturday evening at the weekly square dance sponsored by the Lincoln Council of Folk and Square Dance Clubs.

Willard Noxon will serve as caller for the dancing which will begin at 8:30 o'clock at the Antelope Park pavilion, and Jerry Niday will act as master of ceremonies.

Guests are welcome to attend.

Plans are being made for a square dance on Wednesday, July 29, for which the Lincoln Callers Association will serve as host at the Antelope pavilion.

A feature of the evening will be the Cliff and Smiley band of Oklahoma City, nationally-known square dance band.

They Drink Lipton's In Japan

EDITOR'S NOTE—In her letters to The Lincoln Star, Mrs. William H. Hasebroock of West Point describes the train and bus trips to Kyoto and Nara, Japan, included in the tour of the 160 U.S. club women.

The bus driver was excellent and was aided by the ever-present girl attendant. She is not associated with the Japanese Tourist Agency, but on our long rides, she helped us pass the time by entertaining us with Japanese and American songs.

By the blast of whistles and a code known to both of them, she directs the driver whether to turn right, left, proceed, stop and other communications they might need. She is the only one who can open the front door.

We stopped for lunch at a hotel, and because I had previously enjoyed an ice tea with a refreshing orange pekoe flavor, I asked the English-speaking waitress if she had some. Her answer was priceless and so characteristic to our modern world. "No," she replied, "only Lipton's." Here we were in the heart of the tea country and yet the tender leaves plucked only in May were processed by a foreign industry to serve a fast-moving world.

The rice culture has been most interesting to watch as we made our two train trips. During the Occupation, General McArthur distributed the arable land, formerly held by a very few families, to the farmers who had been working it and the plots are very small.

This is the busy season. Rice is a once-a-year crop. These room-sized "fields" are irregularly shaped off by natural soil ridges and when baked by the sun become permanent dividers for many years. The soil is prepared for use by hand, shoveling it up and over. On rare occasions, motor roto-tillers were seen, but this is still predominantly a back-labor task. Seed is scattered in properly prepared ground and allowed to grow for about two weeks in water. By the time it has reached a height of 10 to 14 inches, it is pulled out by hand in clumps and reset in straight and even rows in additional small plots.

Men and women were in the fields through the hot sun all day and still working at 8 o'clock in the evening. It is tedious and back-breaking work, yet these people are free to do their work, free from the yoke of oppression. Even to the uninformed masses this is essential to life.

The wide use of bamboo is amazing. The trees grow rapidly, and the self-seeded shoots provide a delicacy to the menu that is easily obtained. Trunks of three year-old trees often serve as water conveyors. The slight trunks are used for fishing poles, and rods from the trees constantly serve as clothes lines and railings for homes. Bamboo is a boon to the Japanese.

There must be little need for baby sitters in Japan. Women are seen carrying their children on their backs. Three straps are used for the security of the child and supposedly for the comfort of the mother. But when the child is asleep, its head bounces from side to side, and worse still, is thrown back. One wonders how they eventually attain a straight posture. A bent-over stride is noticed among the women who steadily work in the rice paddies. Standing in water nearly to your knees each day, bending over to plant, pull, replant and cultivate takes its toll in stature.

Returning home during the evening hour, our train was stopped at a place where we were able to see into a dining area of a small family home. They all were seated around the floor table, except "grandfather". He was enthroned on an old-fashioned Morris chair. Even among the Japanese, floor sitting has its handicaps.

Stanton Delaplane's POSTCARD

About 7 o'clock the other morning, a gentleman from the State Department phoned and asked me if I was the person trying to go to Russia. He seemed pretty gloomy when I said yes.

"Have you got your intourist voucher?"

"Heavenly days," he said, "didn't they tell you about that—the voucher?"

"Who would tell me?"

"Aren't you—?" There was a pause and some discussion as to whether I was the man in Milwaukee. Or the hardship case emigrating from South America.

We finally got this straightened out and the State Department man said to just pick up the voucher from American Express and everything would be all right.

☆ ☆ ☆

I notice in Newsweek magazine that 15,000 Americans are touring Russia. That is quite a number.

There are train tours running to Russia. Bus trips running through Russia. Planes are unloading American tourists through Russia. Planes are unloading American tourists as if Las Vegas had moved to Moscow.

It is the most sudden tourist boom in history. And all I can figure if these are the people who could not squeeze tickets out of Sol Hurok for the Bolshoi Ballet. And have determined to see it the hard way.

☆ ☆ ☆

"There is a great deal of bureaucratic red tape in Russia," says Newsweek. "And the tourist must expect delays and have patience."

Let me tell you, you must expect a lot of delays right here in the U.S. And have plenty patience.

It is quite a new thing to go to Russia. And while nobody knows all the procedures, they are all certain they know it better than anybody.

I cannot go into the detail of airline tickets, vouchers, telegrams to New York and Washington. But it was difficult for both of us—American Express and me.

It seems that the Russian Embassy must have your passport to issue a visa but—.

BEFORE they can isue a visa, you must buy your Intourist voucher ($30 a day entitling you to food, lodging and whatever else is on the menu). BUT—.

Before you can have an Intourist voucher, you must state the means of transportation with flight numbers. BUT—.

Before you get the flight numbers, you must find a seat on a plane. No easy job in this rush season to Europe.

☆ ☆ ☆

Anyway, here we sit in the International Room at San Francisco Airport. The jet awaits us. And with luck, a passport should be waiting in New York.

The American Express man was most helpful but doubtful.

"I never heard of it being done like this before."

"I never did it before. That is an interesting point. Possibly we are making some minor history of touring."

The TWA man shook my hand and wished be bon voyage. He assured me my tickets were in order and confirmed. BUT—.

"You must be in London by Monday. Or you miss the connecting flight."

BUT—.

"Naturally, you cannot take off for London unless you have your passport."

Which, of course, depends on the voucher, depends on the reservation, depends on the flight numbers.

Depends, I think, upon the intervention of Heaven. Heavenly days, yes.

State Opens Road Construction Bids

The State Highway Department opened bids Thursday on an advertised $5.5 million construction letting.

Apparent low bidders are expected to be announced Friday.

Included in the projects is 1.8 miles on the interstate highway near Omaha between 96th and 72nd streets.

The interstate work calls for grading, pavement, culverts and six bridges.

The advertised letting called for work on 35.5 miles of federal aid primary projects; 64.6 miles on federal aid secondary projects; 8.3 miles on state projects; 66.4 miles in armor coating on state maintenance projects and six gravel resurfacing projects.

Estimated funds involved are $1,250,000 in federal aid interstate funds; $1,125,000 in federal aid primary funds; $830,000 in federal aid secondary funds; $245,000 in county funds; $1,930,000 in state construction funds and $120,000 in state maintenance funds.

NEW CORPORATIONS UP 59% OVER '58

New business incorporations in Nebraska for the first six months this year are running 59 per cent ahead of the same period last year.

Deputy Secretary of State Roland Luedtke said the average is far above the national average of a 47 per cent gain.

June alone was up 66 per cent over a year ago, he said, with 104 new business incorporations compared to 69 last year.

For the first six months this year there have been 591 new business incorporations in the state compared to 347 a year ago for the period, he said.

Intrastate Vehicle Inspection Set

The State Railway Commission said it will conduct inspections of intrastate vehicles excluding buses at two points next week.

On July 27 inspectors from the railway commission will inspect intrastate vehicles at the junctions of U.S. 6 and Neb. 15 known as the west end of O Street near Lincoln.

On July 31 the inspectors will move to the junction of U.S. 6 and 30A and Neb. 92 known as the cloverleaf junction west of Omaha on West Dodge.

In case of bad weather the inspection teams will split and conduct the inspections at the Wahoo and Fremont state scales.

Telephone Rate Hike Okayed For Eddyville

The State Railway Commission authorized the Eddyville Telephone Exchange, Eddyville, to increase its rates effective Aug. 1.

The commission also approved an application by the Home Telephone Company, Brady, to change from a sole proprietorship to a corporation.

Seek Financial Aid

Gering, Neb. (AP) — The Gering Valley Conservancy District has obtained signatures of over 60% of the land owners in the area and is applying to the state commission on soil and water conservation districts for a priority in financial aid for planning its program. The area has been plagued by flooding.

North Carolina's Jim Tatum Dead From Virus Infection

Chapel Hill, N. C., (AP)—Jim Tatum, a big country boy who rose to the top as a college football coach, died in a hospital here Thursday night of a virus infection which struck him 10 days ago.

Tatum, University of North Carolina mentor, died at 10:40 P.M. (EST). He had gone into a coma during the afternoon and did not regain consciousness.

Tatum, former head coach at Oklahoma and Maryland, entered the hospital last Saturday. He had suffered a long period of hoarseness and respiratory trouble last summer and was warned by his doctors to slow down and cut out smoking.

His condition took a sudden turn for the worse Thursday afternoon. His physicians said the husky, 46-year-old coach had contacted "an overwhelming virus infection" which had infected much of his body.

Later, the hospital reported that uremic poisoning and other complications had set in and his condition had grown worse.

Tatum made his greatest mark in the football ranks while head coach at the University of Maryland. He compiled a record of 73 wins, 15 loses and 4 ties. His teams there played in the Orange, Sugar and Gator bowls and the 1953 team was voted the national champions. Tatum was named coach of the year that season.

He came to the University of North Carolina, his alma mater, as head coach in 1956 to rebuild that school's sagging football fortunes.

His first team won only two games while losing 7 and tieing one, but the next two won 6 games each and lost 4. His 1959 team was to have been the best since his return and predictions already were that it would be a national contender.

A native of McColl, S.C., Tatum graduated from the University in 1935 after starring as a tackle on 3 varsity teams.

Tatum's wife, ill with the same virus, was in isolation but recovering at their home on the university campus.

TATUM . . . victim of virus.

Bud, Faurot Shocked By Death News

Norman, Okla. (AP) — Oklahoma Football coach Bud Wilkinson expressed great shock at the death of Jim Tatum here Thursday night.

Wilkinson, a friend of Tatum since 1937, was speechless when informed of his death.

Finally he said, "I'm so shocked I really don't know what to say. I'm just too shocked to make a coherent statement."

They were coaching rivals when Wilkinson was an assistant at Syracuse and Tatum was at Cornell. They served in the Navy together and Wilkinson came here in 1946 as an assistant to Tatum. He stepped up to the head coaching position the next year when Tatum went to Maryland.

University of Missouri athletic director Don Faurot said the football coaching profession lost one of its finest teachers with the death of Jim Tatum.

Tatum was, Faurot's line coach at Iowa Preflight and at Jacksonville Navy during World War II.

"Jim Tatum was one of my greatest friends," Faurot said. "One of the greatest friends I ever had. It might be true Jim picked up the Split T from me but I learned more football from Tatum than he ever learned from me — especially defensive football."

SPANGLER INTO TOURNEY SEMIS

Colorado Springs, Colo. (AP) — Nebraska amateur champion Dick Spangler Jr. of Lincoln entered the Broadmoor Invitational semifinals round here Thursday afternoon when he nipped Tom Vickers of Wichita Kan. 2 and 1 in the championship flight quarterfinals.

Spangler will meet Wendell Long of Oklahoma City Okla. today.

Chief Margin Is Overcome

. . . Des Moines Wins 11-7

Lincoln Star Special

Des Moines, Ia. — Des Moines' fast-moving Demons spotted Lincoln's slumping Chiefs 5 runs in the top of the first inning here Thursday night, then stormed back for an 11-7 verdict over the Chiefs during a walk-infested Three-I League game.

The win was Des Moines' 6th in its last 7 outings and the Demons' 6th in a row over Lincoln, which dropped to 6th place in the league with the loss.

Lincoln racked Des Moines starter Ed Lunsford for 4 base hits before the righthander was jerked with only one out in the opening frame.

Kelly Is Stingy

Lunsford gave way to Ed Kelly, and the latter shut out the Chiefs until back-to-back doubles by Deacon Jones and Jim Lynn gave Lincoln a pair of consolation runs in the final inning.

Des Moines meanwhile banked out 10 hits and cheerfully accepted 15 bases on balls off the slants of 3 Lincoln moundsmen.

Chiefs starter Bryant Wasdell ran into trouble in the 3rd when he yielded two walks and singles to John Kennedy and Cal Emery that led to 3 Des Moines runs.

Double Chases Wasdell

The hosts chased Wasdell and knotted the count two innings later with 3 more walks and Tom Bornman's bases-loaded double.

Dick Kimball, long inactive Lincoln hurler, took over for Wasdell in the 5th but his fortunes were also short-lived.

Des Moines got the winning runs during a 5-run rally in the 7th with two singles and a walk.

Kimball Is Blasted

Kimball was driven out when he issued two more walks to fill the sacks and the Demons' Cal Emery teed off with a double to center field that scored all 3 runners.

Dick Idzkowski finished up for Lincoln, allowing another run in the 8th inning.

Lincoln, loser of its last 3 in a row, will send righthander Ronnie Bloodworth (5-10) to the mound in the second of a 3-game series here tonight.

Why It's 'Bush'

At this writing the Lincoln Chiefs are ahead of the 1958 overall attendance pace—some 63,000 to 61,000—but they're not one whit closer to solvency.

This despite reduced costs of operation in the Three-I League.

Reason: home club keeps all income, no split of gate receipts. Lincoln—or any other club—profits from road crowds.

I can't help but feel the Three-I League has earned its "bush" reputation because of the petty politics and lack of co-operative spirit which has marked this season.

From an attendance standpoint, Lincoln doesn't have a leg to stand on. The Chiefs haven't gone over very big in the Capital City—at least in the first half of the campaign. So Three-I veterans need not raise the "persecution complex" bit.

It's granted Lincoln has not held up its end.

Also granted, is the fact that Lincoln figured to benefit by the home-club-keep-all routine since it had drawn well in previous years. Unforeseen by all hands was the difficulty of selling a lower classification of baseball to a town that had feasted on a pretty doggone good Class A brand—numerous standouts on all clubs, tremendous attractions on the local club.

Need Split

As a qualified second-guesser, I suggest it would have been much better to devise a gate split and guarantee a more solid league than to take chances on some clubs not drawing as well as others, thus causing weak links.

Splitting the season further pointed out the pettiness of the Three-I League. The old members banded together to achieve their ridiculous objective and Pres. Hal Totten sided with the pros.

And it was all accomplished by a polite jab at Lincoln—"the Chiefs are the weak sisters and will be the only one to suffer. So let's do it."

Hardly a spirit of co-operation. Actually, the no-split rule is designed for the gimic-minded clubs. It is only sound business that a club that receives a split of the gate is insured a steady income, no matter how small. No split and you're at the mercy of fans, weather and long road trips.

With no-split rule members can charge anything they want to—from 15 cents (which some Three-I League Clubs do—and chortle about huge crowds) to $10—and give the horse laugh to the others.

Go 'Modern'

I'll clear up one more point—the old Western League was no gem either. The WL Dads pulled more than their share of boners and attempted to stab each other with regularity.

But as I get it, baseball is trying to improve itself and profit from past mistakes. The Three-I League boys haven't gone modern yet,

It can be a good, sound league and supply some excellent baseball. But when the Three-I League looks to the future, I hope someone suggests open-minded far-sightedness instead of narrow-minded pettiness.

Seven-Run 6th Blitzes Yanks

. . . Tribe Wins 8-5

Cleveland (AP)—Scoring 7 runs in the 6th inning on 7 hits—the big one Minnie Minoso's grand slam home run—the Cleveland Indians won the rubber game of 3 with the New York Yankees 8-5 here Thursday night.

The Indians sent 13 batters to the plate in the big frame, which saw 3 Yankee pitchers on the mound and ended with the bases filled.

The victory, 8th for Cleveland in 17 games with the champions, put the Indians within a half game of the Chicago White Sox, who were rained out.

Thursday night's baseball drama at the stadium was a reversal of the script from the night before, when the Indians held a 4-0 lead going into the 6th inning and were beaten 8-5. Then the Yanks smashed 14 hits; Thursday night the home club rapped out 14.

There were 3 runs home and two out, and the score was 4-3 when Minoso swatted his 15th homer of the season over the left field fence off Eli Grba.

Tito Francona, who has hit safely in 17 straight games, opened Cleveland's big 6th with a single and got another later in the rally, making him 3-for-4 for the night.

A double by Rocky Colavito and a single by George Strickland sent Francona around with Cleveland's first score. Granny Hamner popped, but Elmer Valo's pinch sacrifice fly brought Colavito in, and starter Ralph Terry was replaced by Grba. Russ Nixon singled, and a pair of walks forced in Cleveland's 3rd run and set the stage for Minoso's 4-run clout. After Francona and Colavito had singled for their second hits of the inning, Art Ditmar relieved Grba.

Jim Perry blanked the New Yorkers on one single for 4 innings after taking over in the 3rd.

Serious Play Begins Today

By Don Bryant

Men's City Golf Tournament action is scheduled to tighten up considerably today as the annual event moves into the quarterfinals.

No major upsets were recorded Thursday and only one close match went on the boards.

However, there were solid indications that the championship contenders are getting down to serious business.

Veteran former champion Ralph (Whitie) Reed and Dr Tom Dworak poured it on Bill Jennings and Lou Huffman, respectively, to set the stage for their lower bracket match today.

Jennings—a Big 8 football and basketball official—pulled the top upset of the tourney by ousting defending champion Roy Wythers Jr., Wednesday. But Reed never let him see the light of day Thursday.

Firing a two-under-par 34 on the front side, Reed was 6 up at the turn, added No. 10 and halved 11 and 12 to clinch the 7 and 6 win. Jennings failed to win a hole from Reed, who was at his best on his approach shots.

Dworak was just as hot as Reed, but took an extra hole to settle his match with Huffman, 7 and 5. His front-nine 34 was also good for a 6 up margin at the turn.

In the upper bracket, medalist Valley Voyles continued to roll with a 5 and 3 win over Bill Hemmer, Jr. And young Mick McCuistion ousted two-time champion Emil Frank, 4 and 3. Voyles and McCuistion will open today's battling at 9 a.m.

Voyles, who finished one over par for the 15 holes, posted a 38 going out for a 2 up lead. The LAFB officer birdied No. 11 and won 14 and 15 with pars to win it.

McCuistion had a 4 up margin at the turn, thanks to a 35, and the veteran Frank—although winning 11 and birdying 13—couldn't make up the lost ground.

Smith and Gruenemeier were even going for No. 15 where the latter strayed his tee shot, while Smith boomed straight down the middle some 250 yards. But young Gary recovered beautifully and copped the hole when Ed 3-putted the decider.

Gruenemeier will meet Matt Taber, Lincoln Country Club standout who erased Capt. Paul Jensen of LAFB, 5 and 4. Taber, even par for the 14-hole match, carded a par 36 on the front side for a 4 up lead and took No. 14 for the victory.

In the other lower bracket match today, Stan Stroh, a 4 and 3 winner over Ed Dosek, will meet Phil Brietfelder who toppled Earl Cawthorne, 3 and 2.

Stroh and Dosek made the turn even up with 38s, but Stan took No. 10 with a par, added 11 with a birdie 4, won 12 with a par 3 and wound it up by posting a birdie 3 on 14.

Brietfelder, one over par for 16 holes, took a 3 up leda on the front side with a par 36 and Cawthorne couldn't gain on the final 6 holes.

Championship play continues through Friday and Saturday and winds up with a 36-hole match Sunday. First flight play also runs until Sunday.

Lower flight semi-finalists will be determined today, with finals scheduled Saturday.

SF's Sanford Stops Cards On 9-Hitter

San Francisco (AP) — Big right-hander Jack Sanford Thursday won his first game as he scattered 9 St. Louis hits for a 5-1 San Francisco since being hurt last month victory.

The National League leaders scored twice in the first inning on 3rd baseman Ken Boyer's error to give their pitcher all the bulge he needed.

St. Louis didn't score until two were out in the 9th when Wally Shannon singled home Boyer.

Sanford, who had not won since June 7, ran his record to 8-9 as he struck out 4 and issued one walk before a crowd of 12,516.

Fired-Up A's Hit Orioles

. . . Sweep 3-Game Set

Kansas City (AP)—The fired-up Kansas City Athletics unleashed a 16-hit bombardment including 3 home runs here Thursday night and defeated the Baltimore Orioles 9-3 for a sweep of their 3-game series.

Ned Garver, although touched for 7 hits including Billy Klaus' second home run of the year, claimed the victory to give himself an 8-9 record. The defeat was chalked up against Hector (Skinny) Brown, leveling his record at 6-6.

The A's home runs were Roger Maris' 13th, Dick Williams' 8th and Harry Chiti's 3rd of the season.

The A's got away with a run in the first when lead-off man Bill Tuttle struck out but raced to first as Gus Triandos dropped the pitch and, couldn't find it. A sacrifice and a single brought Tuttle home.

Chiti's homer, a walk and two singles added two more in the second. Wayne Terwilliger's bases-loaded single scored two more in the 3rd and sent Brown to the showers. Jack Fisher checked the A's briefly but was nicked for a tally in the 5th on a double and single.

Garver, who had 2-hit the Orioles for 5 innings, began to tire in the 6th and gave them a run on 3 singles. But the A's bounced right back to score twice in their half of the frame on a walk and Williams' homer. Baltimore picked up two more runs in the 7th on Klaus' homer, Brooks Robinson's triple and an infield out.

Connie Johnson, replacing Fisher, stopped the A's, served up Maris' home run ball in the 8th.

The victory moved the A's into 6th place ahead of Washington.

Dodgers Win; But May Have Lost Hodges

Los Angeles (AP) — The Los Angeles Dodgers defeated Chicago, 5-3 Thursday night, but they may have lost first baseman Gil Hodges for at least a week.

Hodges suffered a pulled muscle in his right leg sliding into second base. It was feared a bone had been fractured but X-rays were negative.

The accident occurred in the 6th, two innings after Hodges sent the Dodgers ahead, 2-0, with his 19th homer of the year. Hodges walked with one out and tried to advance to second after Don Demeter's long fly to center.

Just as Tony Taylor was taking the throw from the outfield, Hodges came into second with a hard slide, then flopped over on his stomach, writhing in pain.

Hodges, who had driven in 61 runs this year and is hitting .292, was carried off the field on a stretcher and taken to an Inglewood hospital.

Hastings' Tretter Hurls Five-Hitter

Hastings (AP) — Rudy Tretter pitched 5 hit ball Thursday night to beat Kearney 3-1 and rack up his 5th Nebraska State League win. He has lost once.

Hastings won the 8th on singles by Jim Stallings, Bob Barton and a squeeze bunt by Bob Davis that brought in two runs.

One Arm Enough For Little Leaguer

One arm is just as good as two. Twelve-year-old Tommy Peters, a member of the Olathe, Kansas Little League All-Star team, amazingly demonstrates how baseball can be played with just one arm.

The Olathe All Stars played Thursday in the Missouri, Kansas, Nebraska District One Little League Tournament at Lincoln Air Force Base.

Tommy was born with only his left arm. However, through desire and drive he has mastered not only baseball but a number of other sports despite his handicap. He participates in football, basketball, roller skating, and he is an extraordinary swimmer. In addition he has established a 119 bowling average.

When Olathe played its opening game Thursday, the 7th grade youth got the right field starting berth and batted lead-off in the lineup.

Tommy batted .450 during the regular season and has played every position on the team, except catcher. His manager, Frank Gaeta of Olathe, said, "We have complete confidence in Tommy in the outfield. He definitely has earned a position on our team."

The manager added, "the play of this boy is a treat for all Little League fans and a wonderful lesson for everyone with no handicap."

Missourians Only 4 Left In Running

It will be an all-Missouri semifinal round in the District 1 Little League baseball tournament at Lincoln Air Force Base Friday, and — interestingly enough — 3 of the 4 outfits still vying for the championship are from St. Joseph.

In quarterfinals Thursday the last entries from Kansas and Nebraska were sidelined. The Optimists of St. Joe nipped Columbus, Neb. 6-5, and the St. Joe Jaycees beat Olathe, Kan. 4-1.

Other winners were Carrollton, Mo. 11-9 over Clinton Mo. and St. Joe Lions 18-2 over South Side Commerce of the same city.

The Lions aggregation has produced the most potent attack in the first two rounds of the tournament, tallying 35 runs while limiting its opposition to 3 runs and playing errorless ball in the field.

Games today call for Carrollton vs. Lions at 1 p.m. and the St. Joe Optimists vs. the St. Joe Jaycees at 3 p.m.

Jones' Grand Slam Stops Braves, 6-2

Milwaukee (AP)—Willie Jones blasted a bases-loaded home run with two out in the 8th to lift the Cincinnati Reds to a 6-2 victory Thursday night over the Milwaukee Braves.

Jones, a veteran third baseman discarded by the Philadelphia Phillies and the Cleveland Indians earlier this year, picked out a 2-2 pitch from Joey Jay and sent it high over the left field fence.

The homer was Jones' 9th of the season and the 7th grand slam hit of his career.

The Reds, retired in easy fashion for 7 innings by Jay, erupted with two out in the 8th as Frank Robinson and Jerry Lynch singled to center.

Ed Bailey then sent a soft roller just to the right of second base. Bobby Avila, the hero of Wednesday night's game with a 9th inning homer, just managed to get to the ball but was unable to whip it to second for a force-out. Avila was charged with an error and Jones followed with his game-deciding blast.

Avila's home run Wednesday night gave the Braves a 5-4 victory and broke a seven-game Milwaukee losing streak.

It was in the era of the first transcontinental railroad and the Golden Spike that Michael Karl Goetz built his brewery at the then frontier town of St. Joseph, Missouri. This famous old brewery has been in continuous production ever since. And it is still owned and operated by the family of the founder.

Ike May Attend Pan-Am Contest

Washington (AP) — President Eisenhower is seriously considering attending the Pan-American Games in Chicago Aug. 27, the White House said Thursday.

Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said Eisenhower has been invited by the committee-in-charge and would like very much to accept.

Hagerty said the President has made no final decision and that it will depend on other business and Eisenhower's schedule at the time.

Cobb Watches Detroit Hit Senators By 11-2

Detroit (AP) — Al Kaline and Harvey Kuenn supported Jim Bunning's stout pitching, each collecting 4 safeties as the Detroit Tigers walloped Washington 11-2 before a crowd that included Ty Cobb.

Kuenn, the American League's leading batter, had a perfect day at the plate with 4 singles and a walk. Kaline, not far behind in the batting race, collected two doubles and a pair of singles.

Kuenn scored 4 of the Tiger runs and drove in 3 while Kaline scored 3 times and batted home two more.

Bunning limited the Senators to 4 hits, including Bob Allison's 26th home run that came in the 9th inning. The only other score off the lanky right hander came in the first inning when Allison singled, went to third on Harmon Killebrew's single and scored on a fly ball.

Bunning did not allow another hit until Clint Courtney led off the 8th with a single. At one stretch Bunning retired 17 batters in succession.

While he was coach of the Omaha suburban school, Westside moved up from class C to AA, meanwhile compiling an outstanding record.

The Omaha school announced it was moving Bill Hoyt into Morrison's post. Hoyt has been a Westside assistant for 5 years.

Chicago (AP)—Manager Billy Jurges has slapped a curfew on the Boston Red Sox players it was learned Thursday.

Jurges set the deadline for 1 a.m. or an hour and a half after the end of night games. First offenders will receive warnings but it will cost $100 for every infraction thereafter.

The curfew was put in effect by Jurges in a squad meeting. The players were talking about it Thursday as the club was rained out of a date with the White Sox.

Grapplers To Return Tuesday

Professional wrestling returns to the Capital City next Tuesday and Promoter Jack Pesek labels the show as a contest between the "Villains of the Month."

It will make the first appearance of the ring meanies in Lincoln since May 1 when the winter season closed after a successful campaign which attracted some 20,000 fans, a local record.

Headlining the Pershing Auditorium show, slated to start at 8:30 p.m., will be a tag-team scramble between a pair of Germans and a pair of Japanese.

In the Oriental corner will be Mitsu Arakawa and Tosh Togo, the same duo that created mayhem on several occasions here last winter. Providing the opposition will be one of the all-time mat roughnecks, Hans Schmidt, and his partner, Baron Otto Von Krupp.

The Japs specialize in the "claw hold" and the "judo chop," while Schmidt resorts to almost any tactic in the ring book. The main event will be a 2-out-of-3 fall affair with a 60-minute time limit.

Pesek said preliminary matches will be announced shortly.

Rookie southpaw Alvin Jackson of the Pittsburgh Pirates has 8 brothers but none plays baseball.

Shrine Bowl officials said Thursday there won't be a tie at the first Nebrasa North-South grid game set for Omaha's Municipal Stadium Aug. 22.

Officials have decided to extend the game of the state's best high school football talent if there is a tie at the end of 4 quarters.

In the additional period the first team to score will win.

"The coaches and kids have let us know that they want a definite winner," officials said.

Profits of the game will go to the Twin Cities unit of the Shriners hospitals for crippled children.

Record Crowd Of 4,500 At NU Tractor Day; Pelleting Machine Among Main Attractions

Rapid advances in farm machinery coupled with bumper crop prospects combined to boost attendance at the 9th annual Tractor Power and Safety Day at the College of Agriculture Thursday to a record all-time high of 4,500 persons.

"This is the largest crowd since our first Tractor Power and Safety Day in 1950," said Lloyd Hurlbut, chairman of the Department of Agricultural Engineering. "That year 4,000 persons registered."

One of the main attractions at the event was a pelleting machine which did not arrive until early afternoon. The machine combines various grains, chopped hay and liquids such as molasses into a compressed pellet for feeding to livestock. Pellets hold promise in reducing feed handling costs as well as increasing feed efficiency.

Twenty-one different models of grain dryers were paraded before the crowd. In discussing the dryers, E. A. Olson, Extension agricultural engineer, said "it is hard to believe that we have so much equipment available today for drying high moisture grain. We just started doing research on drying wet grain 10 years ago."

Other milestones recorded at Tractor Power and Safety Day included a whole line of tractors having the new high speed — 1,000 rpm—power take-off and an increase in the number of diesel tractors on display.

L. F. Larsen, engineer-in-charge of the Nebraska Tractor Testing Station, said "the diesel tractors are becoming more and more popular. Of the 46 tractors tested at the station in the past year, 22 were diesel, 8 were liquid propane and 16 gasoline."

That fact was proved in a fuels test conducted during the day by J. J. Sulek and Delbert Lane of the Agricultural Engineering department.

Their tests showed that the cost of operating a liquid propane tractor is $2.69 per hour, gasoline tractor, $2.79 per hour and diesel, $2.61 per hour. These figures were based on normal depreciation of a tractor over a 7-year period.

Tire Bounce Report

Earlier in the day those attending heard a report on tire bounce by Dave Berns, graduate student from Blue Hill in the Department of Agricultural Engineering. Research showed that tire bounce is caused by the quantity of air in a tractor tire. When liquid, or powder is used in tires with a limited amount of air, tire bounce is reduced making it easier to drive the tractor, Berns pointed out.

Nebraska 4-H'ers also had a part in the Tractor Day program by getting a chance to drive the latest models in the parade of tractors. A total of 43 members of Cass County tractor clubs participated. Herbert Kraeger, Plattsmuoth, state champion 4-H tractor driver in 1958, also performed.

German Tractor Inspected

Looking over a Porsche-Diecele Junior, a German made tractor, are, left to right: Tim Stratbucker and John Elvers, both of Fort Calhoun, and William J. DeBoer of Fairbury. They were among the record crowd attending NU Tractor Power and Safety Day on the ag college campus. (Star Photo)

Reger Went To Indiana, Says Woman

Des Moines (AP) — The Rev. John A. Reger, 31, missing Stella, Neb., minister who lived in Des Moines for 6 weeks until he disappeared again July 14, was in Gary, Ind., a few days ago, police here learned Thursday.

The Rev. Mr. Reger disappeared from Stella Sept. 3, 1958. His car later was found abandoned here.

He was heard of next on July 14, when Mrs. James C. Rogiers, 25, of Des Moines, reported her husband missing. She later identified pictures of the Rev. Mr. Reger as those of her husband, police say.

Police said a Des Moines woman called police headquarters Thursday and told of going to Gary, Ind., with a man she identified as Rogiers.

"He disappeared after telling me to attend a movie while he attended to some personal business," the woman told police.

Bodies Of 3 Drowning Victims Are Located

Trenton, Neb. (AP) — The bodies of 3 men drowned during a storm on Swanson Lake near here were found Thursday.

The 3 were George Buehler, about 44, Trenton, Alfred Vap, about 30, of Atwood, Kan., and Howard Brown, Rock Springs, Wyo.

The first body was spotted by Frost Quick, a Trenton implement dealer, who was searching the lake by plane. The other bodies came to the surface later.

The 3 men were in a 14 foot boat on the lake Monday when the rain and wind storm struck. No one saw the accident and all that was found Tuesday morning was a hat, notebook and part of a boat seat on the north shore of the lake.

The spot where the bodies were located was in the same bay where those items had been recovered.

Buehler is survived by his widow and parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Buehler, and Vap by his parents. Brown was married and had 5 children, the oldest 5 years old.

Stock Market Stands Pat

New York (AP) — The stock market stood pat Thursday after a brisk, two-day rally.

Plus and minus signs just about matched evenly as pivotal shares shifted from fractions to around two points.

Trading interest focused largely on the motor issues as several auto firms checked in with healthy earnings reports. The group woundup generally higher and heavy turnover.

Some steels, aluminums and specially situated stocks also skipped higher. But a number of electronics, tobaccos and rubbers stumbled lower.

In all, 3,310,000 shares changed hands, approximately the same as Wednesday.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks finished unchanged at $231.90 with the industrials off 30 cents, the rails up 70 cents and the utilities off 10 cents.

The Dow Jones industrial index crept up 0.25 from Wednesday's record high to a new peak of 664.63.

Of 1,210 issues traded, 514 advanced and 495 declined. New highs for the year were set by 70 stocks and new lows by 15.

Ten of the 15 most actively traded stocks gained ground. Five eased.

In busy bond trading, U.S. governments again ended generally unchanged. Corporate issues nudged higher.

Bond sales totaled $5,190,00 par value.

Rains Bring Strong Selling To Soybeans

Chicago (AP) — A soaking general rain in most of the driest areas of the Midwest brought the strongest selling pressure in more than two weeks into soybean futures on the Board of Trade.

All contracts skidded sharply with the distant months off almost four cents a bushel. It was the steepest slide in that commodity since the Department of Agriculture reported almost two weeks ago that acreage this year is down about eight per cent from 1958.

In the eight days of trading after release of the report, the distant soybean months had advanced as much as 12 cents a bushel with only brief setbacks.

While the rainfall attracted a good deal of profit taking Thursday, some brokers said the over-riding influence still is the seeded acreage and perhaps will continue to be a bullish consideration until some comprehensive figures on probable yield become available.

The June soybean crush was reported at 33,157,000 bushels, down about three million from May, but it brought the total for the crop year since Oct. 1 to a record high 312,233,000 bushels compared with 267,162,000 for the same period last year.

Rainfall also weakened corn prices. All new crop months slipped a cent or more but prices for No. 2 yellow in the cash market declined almost three cents.

Wheat eased as mill demand slackened.

At the close, wheat was ⅛-½ cent a bushel lower, September $1.89⅛-¼; corn ⅛-1⅜ lower, September $1.19½-⅝; oats unchanged to ¾ lower, September new type contract 67⅝-¾; rye ¾-1½ lower, September $1.28⅝-½, and soybeans 1¼-3⅞ lower, September $2.19-19⅛.

EVERYBODY'S MONEY

Securing An Expert Financial Consultant

By Merryle S. Rukeyser

Rukeyser

If you needed an appendix operation, you wouldn't go to a surgical instrument store to pick up a scalpel for self-treatment.

In the same spirit, in this age of specialization, the investor is entitled to expert counsel is connection with his program for accumulating financial competency.

Letters from readers repeatedly ask: "How do I go about finding a financial counselor?"

Unfortunately, there is no readily available automatic vending machine for buying financial wisdom.

But there are practical procedures.

A sensible approach is to ask an officer of your own bank to recommend an investment counselor who can be retained for an annual fee. If your own bank is off the main stem, the bank officer can get the information through his correspondent bank in a metropolitan center.

Since investment counsel firms are required to register with the Securities & Exchange Commission, you could send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the commission at Washington, D.C., to inquire whether there is anything detrimental on file against the outfit. Another check can be made through the local Better Business Bureau and still another through the Investment Counsel Association of America.

Regrettably, there is no Trendex rating or batting average of the degree of correctness of the judgments expressed in the past by investment counsel firms. The nearest to a rating system is the performance record of affiliated funds operated by several of the old line counseling firms such as Scudder, Stevens and Clark and Loomis Sayles & Company. The shares in such funds are available to the small investor, whose assets are too small to warrant the annual retainer fee which such firms charge clients for individual counseling.

In other firms the prospective client can inquire how many years the firm has been operating, and how long it has retained some of its early clients.

Of course, an ethical adviser will promise nothing more than to give a sincere expression of his appraisal of present trends and future prospects.

Only quacks will guarantee that such advice will prove to be profitable. In varying degrees, stocks and bonds are, in the nature of things, subject to business risks. The expert is knowledgeable in appraising hazards and in minimizing them through diversification and through continuous supervision.

In addition to specialized firms, some trust companies, such as the United States Trust Company and the Fiduciary Trust Company in New York, counsel clients on a fee basis. Such counseling is for substantial funds. Some suggest a minimum of $100,000 and some even $200,000.

For smaller investors, some banks and trust companies run composite or common trust funds. Likewise, those not among the upper bracket savers can get counseling indirectly through the mutual funds and the so-called closed-end investment companies, which constitute "financial packages of convenience."

Bear in mind that whenever you choose professional persons, attorneys, accountants or engineers, an element of judgment is involved. It is usually helpful to consult personalities in your community who are known to be successful and to possess integrity. Their advice on the competency of professional advisers can be of value.

A spokesman for one of the pioneer investment counsel firms, with branches around the country, said: "One of our most important responsibilities is to 'keep our feet on the ground' under all circumstances and to protect our clients from the extremes of emotional optimism or undue pessimism.

"In working for a client our first major objective is to develop a sound overall investment plan to fit that client's particular investment requirements. We follow closely by field research those companies in which our clients' capital is invested and are constantly seeking out investment opportunities."

(Mr. Rukeyser will be pleased to receive inquiries from readers concerning their financial problems. Letters, with self-addressed, stamped envelopes, should be sent in care of this newspaper. Questions of general interest will be answered in the column.)

Disputed Labor Control Bill Sent To House Floor

. . . Committee Barely Votes Approval, 16-14

Washington (AP)—The faction-split House Labor Committee Thursday barely voted approval of a compromise labor controls bill. It now faces an all but friendless reception in the House.

The committee vote was 16-14. A tie vote would have locked the bill indefinitely in committee.

Many of the committee members who voted to send the bill to the House floor denounced it as weak and watery.

Several Republicans served notice they would oppose it on the floor unless union regulation controls are strengthened. Some Democrats, who said they also would oppose it, gave as a reason that the controls were too stringent.

"Path Of Compromise"

Its friends, a minority in the committee, suggested that it "provides a path of reasonable compromise for reasonable men."

George Meany, AFL-CIO president, called the bill unacceptable to organized labor and one that "does grievous harm to legitimate unions under the guise of labor reform."

With seemingly no one wholly satisfied, the situation could result in no law at all this year.

The committee bill is a softened version of the anti-racketeering bill passed earlier this session by the Senate.

The House committee relaxed the Senate's labor "Bill of Rights" for the union rank and file by eliminating its criminal enforcement sanctions. It retained Senate bans against "hot cargo" contracts in interstate transportation (hot cargoes are those a union refuses to handle), and against organizational picketing of employers.

It added a major provision to increase he National Labor Relations Board from 5 to 7 members, and to require the board to take jurisdiction in all labor disputes.

The bill also would require both employers and unions to report their financial dealings, establish union election safeguards, forbid union officials from business dealings with employers, and deny union office to anyone convicted of a crime.

Recurring Amnesia Is Possibility

In Disappearance Of Socialite, 21

Short Hills, N.J. (AP) — The doctor for missing socialite Jacqueline Gay Hart indicated Thursday that a recurrence of amnesia may have figured in her baffling disappearance.

The 21-year-old blonde beauty may have been stricken with the same loss of memory she suffered after an auto accident in Virginia two years ago.

Jacqueline was thrown from her car in Charlottesville, Va., May 12, 1957. She could remember nothing for several hours. She was in a hospital 3 days.

Dr. W. Austin Tansey, her doctor here, said she suffered a brain concussion. She made a complete recovery, he said, but he and her family did not rule out the possibility of amnesia.

Vanished Tuesday

The girl's father, Ralph, a wealthy business executive, said she had not suffered a loss of memory since the accident.

The girl was last seen Tuesday night kissing her fiance goodbye at Newark Airport. Then she vanished.

Police scoured the airport and the lonely marshes that surround it again Thursday. They found nothing.

"We are going over all the ground again," said Hart, executive vice president of the Colgate-Palmolive Co. "We are trying everything but there is not a thing in the world new.

"I wish there was. I wish to God there was."

But there wasn't. Somewhere between a landing ramp and the well-lit airport parking lot where Jacqueline had left her new hard-top car, she disappeared.

Dinner With Family

She had driven her fiance, Stanley Gaines, 25, of Fayetteville, W. Va., to the airport after dinner with her family in this fashionable suburb.

Gaines, whose late father amassed a fortune in coal mining in West Virginia, was going to Pittsburgh for a job interview. He and Gay were to have been married next month.

Priority Ratings To 3WatershedPlans

The Nebraska Soil and Water Conservation Commission Thursday issued priorities to 3 watershed conservancy districts: no. 1 to Bellwood in Butler County, no. 2 to Jones Creek in Polk County, and no. 3 to Gering Valley in Scotts Bluff County.

The priorities are for state and federal assistance, when available, for planning conservation projects under Public Law 566.

Warren Fairchild, executive secretary of the Commission, said the Bellwood district covers about 54,000 acres and the Jones Creek about 6,400 acres.

The Gering Valley priority was issued tentatively pending completion of organization of the conservancy district.

Fairchild said the commission was able to assign the priorities because of an additional $100,000 in state assistance voted for the 1959-61 biennium by the state legislature.

Waste In Foreign Aid Is Charged

Corrected Program Must Continue, White House Report Says

Washington (AP) — The embattled foreign aid program was pictured in a House committee report Thursday as shot through with waste and mismanagement due to "loose, lax administration."

In a counter report, a White House study committee said the economic aid programs "must be continued and better administered, not emasculated or abandoned."

The two reports were released as Congress sent to President Eisenhower a compromise bill authorizing $3,556,200,000 in military-economic aid during the fiscal year ending next June 30 and turned to the question of appropriating funds to carry out this authority.

Long Time Foe

The critical report on waste and mismanagement came from a House Appropriations subcommittee which will get first crack at drafting the money bill. The subcommittee is headed by Rep. Otto Passman (D-La), a long time foe of large scale aid.

Passman has talked of cutting this year's aid program another half billion dollars below the $3,566,200,000 authorized, which in itself is $353,200,000 less than Eisenhower said was needed.

The White House study committee, headed by William H. Draper, former ambassador to NATO and former assistant secretary of the Army, said many forms of economic aid must continue as long as the Communist military-economic-political menace exists.

It proposed that a new government agency be created outside the State Department to administer the major economic assistance program. The trouble now, it said, is that these activities are scattered among a number of agencies.

The Draper committee report, which Eisenhower asked Congress to study, recommended a more selective choosing of nations and projects for U.S. aid.

The committee also recommended that the United States supply birth control information, if requested, to certain nations faced with the problem of overpopulation.

The Senate Foreign Relations committee decided to open hearings next Thursday on the aid program in Viet Nam. It voted to bring in from Saigon the U.S. ambassador to Viet Nam and the top U.S. aid official there for testimony.

Albert M. Colegrove, Scripps-Howard writer who has called the aid program in Viet Nam "an outrageous scandal," also has been invited to testify. Foreign aid officials described Colegrove's articles as "obvious sensationalism."

2 Gunmen Get $27,000; Caught After Gunbattle In Woods

Pittsburgh (AP) — Two bold gunmen grabbed $27,000 in a daring holdup of a suburban bank and wounded two police officers in a fierce gun battle.

One bandit was shot. The other surrendered meekly. A third was believed to have escaped. Both police officers were reported in serious condition.

Four other policemen collapsed of heat exhaustion in the chase over a wooded, hilly area about five miles from midtown. They were treated at the scene.

The Bandits

Police identified the bandits as Joseph Gaito, 29, and Eddie Kearns, both of Pittsburgh. Gaito was shot in the hip in the exchange of fire with police.

The wounded policemen are Anthony Paga, 30, and Robert W. Thompson, 26, both of Pittsburgh. Paga was shot in the back, Thompson in the abdomen.

The two bandits fled in a car after robbing the Hays Branch of the Peoples First National Bank and Trust Co., scene of a $40,000 holdup in January, 1957.

Minutes after the holdup, police spotted the gateway car and gave chase. The bandits abandoned the auto and took to the hills under the cover of deep brush.

Hundreds of police quickly converged on the scene with riot guns, walkie-talkies, dogs, tear gas and rounds of ammunition. Two helicopters were pressed into service to direct the manhunt from the air.

The officers crouched behind cars and cement abutments, peppering the hillside with shots. The gunmen fired down from their vantage point on the hillside, keeping officers at bay for more than a half hour.

The money in a green canvas bag was found beneath a log planted in the dirt. Next to it was a cocked revolver.

'Don't Shoot'

Gaito, shot in the hip, walked out of the wooded area with his hands in surrender — shouting "Don't shoot, don't shoot — I'm hit." Kearns gave up eight minutes later.

Gaito was taken to a hospital where he told officers that a third man had driven the getaway car. He said it was stolen. Gaito identified the man as Robert Boyd.

"I never saw anything like it in my life," said an unidentified construction worker who witnessed the gun battle. "It was just like a movie."

'Best Friend Just Nuisance'

London (UPI)—Actress Pat Kirkwood, irked because some of her jewels were stolen last December, sold all her diamonds for $4,800 because she doesn't consider them a girl's best friend.

"Diamonds are a darned nuisance," she said. "Don't keep your rocks in a box . . . sell them before you lose them. There's no fun in them anymore."

Man Pleads Innocent To Statutory Rape Charge

. . . Involving 7-Year-Old

Earl S. Texter of the Lincoln Air Force Base pleaded innocent to a statuory rape charge Thursday in Lancaster County Court.

Texter, 22, is charged with having sexual relations with a 7-year-old girl Wednesday night. He waived a preliminary hearing on the charge and was bound over to District Court for trial this fall.

Judge Herbert A. Ronin set his appearance bond at $5,000, and after a professional bondsman posted the bond Texter was released.

3 To 20 Years

Dep. Co. Atty. Paul Douglas had asked the court to fix a $6,000 bond, saying the charge was a "serious one" which carries a penalty of from 3 to 20 years imprisonment upon conviction.

But Texter's attorney, John McArthur, objected and said he thought a bond of a "couple thousand" dollars would be sufficient.

Police said Texter was visiting at the home of his 21-year-old girl friend Wednesday night. While he and the girl's mother reportedly were waiting for the daughter to come home from work the mother went out for a few minutes.

She left Texter in the apartment with her sleeping 7-year-old daughter and 9-year-old son. The children, who live in Montana, are here visiting their mother, who is divorced.

Examined

When the mother returned the 7-year-old girl told her mother Texter had raped her. The child was later examined by an attendant and he said in his opinion the girl had been raped, police said.

Texter, whose home is in Philadelphia, is a staff sergeant at the Base. Police said he had been dating the elder sister of the girl he is charged with assaulting Texter was divorced by his wife in April, and she was given custody of their infant daughter. His ex-wife and child no longer live in Lincoln.

BECK, CONRAD TRADE BARBS OVER NEW FLAG

A series of verbal bouts stemming from recent flag-raising ceremonies at the State Capitol continued Thursday with charges exchanged between Republican Attorney General C. S. Beck and Democratic Gubernatorial Assistant Robert Conrad.

Beck originally had deplored the fact that only Democrats were invited to attend the ceremonies for the new 49-star flag.

Conrad replied, "Only Mr. Beck would attempt to attach a political significance to the raising of our nation's flag. His position is too childish for comment."

To which Beck replied:

"Since only Democratic officeholders in the Statehouse were present, and there were no Republican state officers there, it would seem to lend a political note to it as far as publicity is concrned.

"When I made the original statement," Beck continued, "I had forgotten Brooks was master of all he surveys. Maybe he has a right to raise the flag over his Capitol Building by himself attended only by those of his persuasion."

Flavel Wright Nominated To Head State Bar Association

Flavel A. Wright, Lincoln attorney, has been nominated president of the Nebraska State Bar Association by the Association's executive council.

Wright

Nominated president-elect was Thomas C. Quinlan of Omaha. C. Russell Mattson of Lincoln was nominated for member-at-large of the executive council.

The nomination of Wright, whose election was reportedly almost assured, would result in the second time both a father and son have served as president of the Nebraska Bar.

Wright's father, Fred A. Wright, held the position in 1924. Paul F. Good, now of Omaha, was president in 1946. His father, the late Benjamin F. Good, was president in 1911.

Formal Notice

The executive council will now circulate a formal notice of the nominations to the Association membership, according to George Turner, clerk of the Nebraska Supreme Court, and secretary-treasurer of the Association.

Wright is currently chairman of the Nebraska Bar's section on taxation. He has also been a member of the House of Delegates and the judicial council.

In 1938, he was treasurer of the Lancaster County Bar Association.

Terms of the state officers will commence with the adjournment of the 1959 annual meeting in Omaha Oct. 8-9. The House of Delegates will meet in Omaha Oct. 7.
